LINDBERGHS ARE GREETED AT AKLAVIK

NOTORIOUS DENVER BOOTLEGGER FLEES AS GUARDS SLEEP

Fred Reger Saws Leg-Irons With Which He Was Chained to Berth to Make Getaway When Train Stops in Lincoln — Evades Recapture Although Believed Seen Near Havelock—Outside Aid Apparently Given.

Police throughout the middle west were conducting an intensive search for Fred Reger, 33, much-wanted Denver bootlegger and jail breaker who escaped from a deputy federal marshal and an extra guard here early Wednesday morning.

Reger sawed his way out of leg irons with which he was chained to his Pullman berth while a Burlington train, on which he was being returned to Denver from Charleston, W. Va., stopped in the Lincoln yards. He was still at large late Wednesday afternoon. Authorities issued a warning that Reger, a desperate criminal, probably had outside assistance in perfecting his escape, and may be armed.

Escaped Denver Jail.

Reger was captured at Charleston, W. Va., a week ago through the aid of a woman, whom he had gone to meet upon her release from the federal prison for women at Alderson, W. Va., where she was serving a term on a liquor charge. While at liberty on an appeal from a sentence of two years in prison and a $5,000 fine on a federal liquor charge, Reger, according to federal officers, committed an offense against a woman at Denver. He was convicted and sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary but escaped a short time ago while awaiting transfer from the Denver county jail.

According to the U. S. marshal's office at Denver, Reger once operated a still in Lincoln, but local police have no record on him. He also is wanted at North Platte on federal liquor charges.

Deputy Dozed For Moment.

Reger made his successful break in a moment of relaxed vigilance on the part of his guards, Deputy U. S. Marshal Finley Cook, and William Garten, a deputized guard, both of Charleston. Cook, who occupied a lower berth adjoining the lower in which Garten slept while Reger occupied the berth above Garten, declared that he dozed a moment as the train pulled into Lincoln for a 20-minute stop shortly before 1:30 o'clock. It was then that Reger, seizing the opportunity, vanished from the car.

The Pullman conductor reported Reger's escape to Cook three minutes after the porter saw the prisoner run down the aisle and jump from the train. The porter said he saw Reger get out of his berth, and he asked him if he wanted his shoes shined. Instead of re-

VAN BUREN, Ark., Aug. 5—(AP)—The engineer and fireman of a Frisco passenger train, southbound, were killed in a wreck of the train at Smelter switch, near here, early today.

The dead are: Lee Keithley, engineer, of Monett, Mo., and William Weeks, fireman, Fort Smith, Ark.

Glen Presson, Frisco trainmaster here, said a connecting bolt at the switch had been pulled. An investigation was started. One of the cars left the track.

One passenger, J. M. Woodward of Fort Smith, was taken to a hospital suffering severe bruises, a broken rib and other internal injuries.

J. H. McCommon, 48, a section foreman at Van Buren, was injured while clearing the wreckage. His right foot was crushed, necessitating amputation.

BUSINESS PLAN BOARD FAVORED

Trade Leaders for Permanent Body to Combat Depression.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—(AP)—Some sort of national council or planning board to promote continuity in business and employment is favored by business men who have replied to a questionnaire sent out by a national chamber of commerce committee headed by Henry I. Harrison of Boston.

The questionnaire, asking if it were considered feasible to set up some permanent body to combat the result of business depression, was sent to 200 presidents of trade associations over the country.

Henry P. Fowler, secretary of the committee, said today that about fifty replies had been received and that the great majority favored some sort of permanent planning board, although they varied widely in their view of the scope of the proposed organization.

Among the questions asked were: Should it be authorized by congress as a purely governmental agency; as a joint effort of government and business; or established and operated by business men without congressional authority?

MURRAY CARRIES OUT THREAT TO SHUT OIL WELLS

Guardsmen Invade Huge Oklahoma City Field Without Opposition.

TROOPS WILL GO TO OTHER AREAS

Governor Says Big Firms Attempting to Ruin Independents.

OLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Aug. 5—(AP)—The first major reaction to Gov. W. H. Murray's drastic oil edict which ordered a complete shut down in the twenty-seven prorated fields in Oklahoma, and was immediately put into effect in this area by the national guard, came today from outside the state.

A number of refining companies reported they had received telegraphic offers from east Texas producers who are ready to supply crude oil at 10 to 15 cents a barrel on loading racks in that area.

The Oklahoma City field was completely shut in today after quick compliance late yesterday with the oil edict and it appeared that by the first of next week not more than three refineries would be operating in the area unless Texas crude can be delivered. Refinery operations had not announced their decision with regard to purchase of the Texas product.

Meanwhile, Harry Sinclair, whose company was the chief target of the gubernatorial order, remained silent and other companies at which the shut down was directed were maintaining an attitude of watchful waiting while officials conferred on the situation.

Guardsmen March In.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Aug. 5—(AP)—Gov. William H. "Alfalfa Bill" Murray has carried out a threat to shut down Oklahoma oil wells under martial law in an effort to increase prices for crude oil. He named the "supreme executive power of the state" as his authority.

National guardsmen, called out late yesterday, invaded the giant Oklahoma City oil field without appreciable opposition and headed

MAN CRUSHED BY POLE, IMPROVED

Walter Coussins Seriously Injured But Has Chance to Recover.

Walter Coussins, 39, 2903 Randolph street, who was injured critically when his head was crushed by a heavy pole, while a crew of workmen were unloading a car of poles near the pumping station at Twenty-ninth and A streets Tuesday afternoon, was improved slightly Wednesday afternoon, attendants at the Lincoln General hospital said. His condition was fair.

According to Henry Troudt, line foreman employed by the city water and light department, Coussins, a lineman, was on the car, holding to a stake, when one of the poles rolled, causing him to lose his footing. Three or four of the poles rolled from the car, Coussin with them. One of the poles, weighing about 800 pounds, struck his head.

Dr. George E. Lewis, city physician, said that X-ray examination revealed a depressed fracture over the right eye, and a fracture of the right cheekbone that extended through the sinuses to the base of the skull. The man's right eye was not injured. In addition he suffered an abrasion of the right leg. Coussins' condition is critical, but he has a chance to recover, Dr. Lewis stated.

Other workmen managed to get out of the way of the rolling poles, and escaped injury. Coussins was taken to the hospital in a City ambulance.

DETROIT JUDGE KILLS HIMSELF

Worry Over Affairs of Bond and Mortgage Firm Causes A. J. Murphy to Shoot Self.

DETROIT, Aug. 5— (AP)— Judge Alfred J. Murphy, 63, of the Wayne county Circuit court died shortly before 10:30 a. m., today, two hours after he was found unconscious in the basement of his home, a bullet wound in his head and a pistol lying near his right hand.

He was removed to a private hospital but died without regaining consciousness.

In a note addressed to the coroner, Judge Murphy indicated he had taken his own life because of worry over the affairs of the Federal Bond & Mortgage Co. He said he had been "stunned by revelations of conditions in the firm, and in addition had been in ill health since last winter.

"Six months of sleepless nights and worried days have sapped my strength and left me useless," the note read. "I can see no future for me."

MARSH ATTACKS SORENSEN STAND

Insists Assessment Pipe Lines Made On Equitable Basis.

Attorney General Files His Appeal in the Supreme Court.

As the warfare involving possession of failed state banks and their assets quieted down temporarily Wednesday, a new battle of verbal gunfire started on another sector of the capitol front. Attorney General Sorensen, critic of the natural gas pipeline assessments made by the state board of equalization, led the attack in this new engagement. The defending general was Secretary of State Frank Marsh, who threw a bunch of argumentative grenades into the camp of the legal department head.

Sorensen led off with an appeal petition to the Nebraska Supreme court, asking that the tax valuations on pipe lines as found by the state board be set aside, particularly the board's action in scaling down cost figures by 17 per cent in order to equalize the assessments with the decline which has taken place on personal property.

Marsh, who is a member of the board, came back with a statement handed to the press, charging Sorensen with conducting a political agitation for purposes of deception. An extended summary of how the board arrived at its conclusions was included in the secretary of state's manifesto.

Depreciation Ignored.

The trouble with Sorensen's contention, said Marsh, is that the attorney general insists on assessing pipe lines on a basis of flat cost, although farms, automobiles, and other property are listed for taxation on their depreciated values, regardless of what they originally cost.

"A farm may have cost the owner $300 an acre, but its present worth may be only $100 an acre," Marsh suggests. "An automobile costing $1,000, more or less, is not taxed upon its original cost but rather

$1,226,300 CITY BUDGET AGREED; TAX LEVY SAME

Commissioners' Requests Cut To Avoid Increase in Rate.

NEW BUILDING AT AIRPORT PLANNED

Library Board Will Get But Half of $10,000 Desired.

TOTAL TAX LESS.

Lincoln taxpayers will pay .2 of a mill less this year in taxes than they did a year ago. This means a saving of $2 to the man who pays taxes on $10,000 worth of property. Comparison of the mill levies this year and last follows:

	1930	1931
City	7.6	7.6
State	2.34	2.04
County	1.8	1.9
School	15	15
Sanitary District	1	1
Total	27.74	27.54

The city tax levy for all purposes in 1931-32 will remain at 7.6 mills, the figure for the year that is now drawing to a close. On a valuation of $125,000,000 this will raise $854,800, an increase of about $27,000 over the past year. The levy was decided upon Wednesday following an all morning conference of the mayor and the commissioners with City Clerk Berg, at which an agreement was reached on the budget.

The levy was brought down to the figure of the present year only through the increase in total assessed valuation of about $4,000,000, heavy balances through the collection of large amounts of delinquent taxes, and the commissioners being willing to accept sharp slashes in the amounts requested.

The amounts allowed in the budget, aggregated $1,226,300, but only 90 per cent of this is available for use by the departments, and will be appropriated to operating purposes. The balances amounted to $229,200, and estimated receipts for the coming year, $142,300.

Requests for Increases.

In framing the budget this year a number of new factors had to be considered. The library had asked for an increase of $10,000. A request had been made that a similar sum be appropriated for the Social Welfare society to handle relief cases. There were demands for increases for firemen's salaries, salaries of office employes, a build-

HOLDING DOCTOR IN PAXTON FIRE

O'Donnell Insists is Innocent and Accounts For Presence.

OGALLALA, Neb., Aug. 5—(AP)—With Dr. H. J. O'Donnell of Paxton still in jail here for questioning in connection with a fire that damaged the Lutheran church there early Tuesday, state and county officials were joining today in the investigation.

Dr. O'Donnell was arrested soon after 2:30 yesterday morning by a member of the town vigilance committee. Just before that fire was discovered in the church building. The physician's automobile stalled a short distance away.

Joining the local authorities in the investigation was Deputy State Sheriff E. E. Clark of Bridgeport, who was called here by Sheriff F. G. Taylor. Deputy State Fire Marshal L. J. Butcher is also here.

While the officers continued their inquiry late last night, County Attorney Gerald J. McGinley said nothing tangible had developed thus far today.

He declined to say whether any charges would be preferred against the doctor. It was indicated unofficially yesterday that Dr. O'Donnell might be released but it appeared today that he might be held in connection with the church fire.

Dr. O'Donnell, the county attorney said, stoutly maintained his innocence in the face of repeated questioning. He also accounted for his presence in the vicinity of the church at the time.

Mrs. O'Donnell, who had been in Omaha for several weeks, had not returned to Sidney early today, Mr. McGinley said.

REMBRANDT, Ia., Aug. 5—(AP)—Two bandits robbed the First National bank here of between $300 and $400 today and escaped in a light automobile after kidnaping the assistant cashier, H. L. Haroldson.

The two unmasked men entered the bank casually and ordered those in the bank to lie down. While one kept guard the other snatched up all available cash. Then they locked L. F. Pinegl, cashier, in the vault and ordered Haroldson to accompany them. Haroldson was released about a mile from Rembrandt and the bandits continued on their way north.

THOUSANDS OF LIVES LOST IN CHINESE FLOOD

Pestilence and Famine Threaten 200,000 More In Central Area.

HANKOW, China, Aug. 5—(AP)—Thousands were reported dead in the Yangtse valley today as the great river rose to record high levels, flooding vast stretches of central China and threatening pestilence and famine to hundreds of thousands made homeless.

Accurate count of the dead was impossible, but the Chinese press said "several thousand" died in the district of the tri-cities Wuchang, Hankow and Hanyang alone, and many bodies were carried away by the Yangtse.

The refugee problem is becoming acute. It is estimated 200,000 homeless are encamped on Hankow's higher places, while 30,000 more are coming daily.

Railway embankments and high roads are thronged with temporary refugee shelters. Hygienic conditions in these camps are becoming alarming and it is feared disease will spread rapidly.

Mrs. Michael P. Rooney, widow of the veteran police officer who died Tuesday after a long illness Wednesday received a check for $300 from the Lincoln Police Benefit association, the first death benefit to be paid by the association which was organized last fall. The disbursement left a balance of $1,361 in the treasury. According to Sergt. Paul Shively, president, the association has received numerous contributions from business men since it was founded. Dues and the proceeds from the first annual ball account for the remainder of the surplus. Chief of Police Walter Anderson announced that at the request of the widow the police department would be in charge of funeral services Friday morning.

Considerable loot was obtained in the burglary six weeks ago.

TOKYO-BOUND FLIERS SPEED SAFELY OVER ARCTIC WILDERNESS

Flying Vacationists Cross Arctic Circle in Daring Non-Stop Flight of 1,115 Miles Over Bleak Northwest Territories from Baker Lake—May Fly Next to Fuel Craft, Held Up by Fog South of Point Barrow.

AKLAVIK, Northwest Territories, Canada, Aug. 5—(AP)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh landed here at 3:05 a. m., Pacific coast standard time, (5:05 a. m., central standard time) today, completing a 1,115 mile flight from Baker Lake.

The flying Lindberghs left Baker Lake at 5.35 p. m., central standard time, last night. The hop to their last Canadian stop took approximately eleven and one-half hours.

Word of their arrival was sent over a chain of radio stations along the Mackenzie river to Edmonton, Alta.

Fuel Craft Delayed.

Point Barrow, northernmost tip of Alaska, had been set for their next stop on their vacation trip to the Orient, but due to ice conditions, it was doubtful if the United States coast guard cutter Northland carrying fuel and supplies for the plane, would be able to reach the little settlement in time to meet the fliers.

In such case, the Lindberghs might fly directly to the cutter and refuel there. The Northland is now at Icy Cape, about 150 miles south of Point Barrow.

Cheered By Eskimos.

Every resident of this busy little hamlet on the delta of the rushing Mackenzie river was gathered on the muddy banks of the channel when the Lindbergh plane soared into sight from the east. Shouts of scores of Eskimos mingled with the cheering acclaim of the score or so

GAS SUPPLY NOT THREATENED BY MURRAY'S ACTION

Lincoln users of natural gas need not fear that they will lack fuel as a result of Governor William H. Murray's closing of oil wells in Oklahoma, according to John Curtiss of the Iowa-Nebraska Light and Power Co.

"Alfalfa Bill can have all the fun he wants to in Oklahoma without affecting us in the least," declares Mr. Curtiss. "Our supply comes from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. The supply in any one of these states is sufficient to take care of all of our demands without any difficulty."

Mr. Curtiss also pointed out that the supply in Oklahoma would be affected but little by closing of the oil wells. Most of the natural gas used comes from fields that are solely gas producing. Gas sometimes is taken from oil wells but usually it is taken from fields which do not produce oil.

FIRTH FARMER DIES OF INJURY

Hobart Dietz Succumbs Several Hours After Fell Under Mower.

Hobart Dietz, 33, Firth farmer whose left arm was severed by a mowing machine in an accident at his farm Tuesday morning, died at 2:15 o'clock Wednesday in St. Elizabeth's hospital. He was unconscious several hours before death, which Dr. Czar C. Johnson ascribed principally to shock.

Dietz was mowing clover at the same time another mower operated by W. Shenkle was cutting behind his machine. Shenkle's team knocked Dietz from his seat, and he fell into the mower behind him. Shenkle's team ran away, dragging Dietz, with his arm caught in the sickle blade, until it was severed.

He was born in Cortland, Jan. 3, 1898 and lived there till he was nine years of age when he moved to the Dietz homestead near Firth. He was married to Laura Adeline Spellman of Lincoln on June 24, 1925.

He is survived by his wife; his father, Walter Dietz of Beatrice; two sisters, Grace Dietz of Beatrice and Mrs. Ben F. Tesell of Firth and one brother, McKinley Dietz of Firth.

Funeral services will be held at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon at the home with further services at 1:30 o'clock at the church in Firth. Interment will be in Lincoln Memorial Park cemetery. The body is at Brockma's mortuary in Hickman.

JEARY DEFENDS ZONING CHANGE

Expansion of Industrial Territory Essential He Declares.

Clark Jeary, chairman of the zoning board of appeals, Wednesday gave out the following prepared statement regarding the application for the reclassification of property at Twenty-seventh and Apple streets.

"This matter came up for hearing upon the application of the Missouri Pacific railroad company with the consent of the owners of the property for reclassification from residence to industrial," Mr. Jeary says.

"Two hearings were granted at which the proponent and objectors were present. The property was viewed by members of the board. The conclusion reached was that the premises should be reclassified in accordance with the request with the exception of the north ten feet of the lots in question.

"In arriving at the conclusion the board gave consideration among other things to the following facts:

"The lots in question are bounded on the west by property now used for industrial purposes; on the north by Apple street; on the east by residence property, and on the south by the main line and side tracks of the Missouri Pacific railroad company. On the north side of Apple street are located residence properties.

FAMILIES FLEE BEFORE FOREST FIRE IN IDAHO

2,500 Men Battle Blaze In Priest River Valley.

Fires of Past 2 Weeks Cause Half Million Dollars Damage.

SPOKANE, WASH., Aug. 5—(AP)—Flames were ravaging the Priest River valley of North Idaho today, after eighteen families barely had escaped death in the fire-torn area.

The valley was the main battle front for 2,500 men fighting more than 200 fires in the northwest.

Women exhausted by flight from the flames which destroyed their homes and property, were billeted with their children in the Odd Fellows hall at Priest River, Ida. Citizens of Newport, Wash., and other towns sent food and clothing to the fugitives.

Drive Livestock To Safety.

A thousand fighters were working desperately to drive livestock out of the territory in the blaze's path.

Winds kept all the northwest's major fires in rich timber. Charred trees were blocking almost all roads under the smothering cover of smoke in Priest River valley.

Communication from the fire fronts to the outside world was haphazard. The Associated Press report to north Idaho newspapers was being transmitted on a fire fighter's telephone line, because the regular lines were burned down. The Moscow Star-Mirror, Sandpoint Bulletin and Wallace Press Times were served in this way.

Forest chieftains said the Deer Creek blaze, fought by 1,000 men, was creeping along steadily to swell its 90 mile perimeter. Swirling clouds of smoke foiled efforts of airplane observers to help in the battle.

Smoke 10,000 Feet High.

Pilots carrying men from Lewiston, Ida., to the Salmon river territory in central Idaho were bucking smoke as high as 10,000 feet. The air was the only route to two isolated blazes.

Three fires joined at the south fork of the Salmon river and burned a ferry. Foresters said some of various new fires were incendiary.

Reports from forest headquarters at Missoula, Mont., said fires of the last two weeks had done damage of more than a half million dollars.

The elderly couple was treated for bruises about the face, chest and legs by Dr. J. J. Loomis at his office, and then taken to their home in Castle, Roper and Matthews' ambulance. The driver of the other car was unhurt according to police.

MAN KILLS GIRL, TRIES SUICIDE

Unemployed Chicagoan Says He Wanted To Relieve Wife.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—(AP)—After beating his 17-year-old step-daughter, Ruth Einersen, to death with a hammer, Sigurd Soress, 35, slashed his wrists with a pocket knife and attempted suicide by jumping into the lake.

Police seized him before he could do himself any serious injury, and took him to the Bridewell hospital where he confessed, they said. Soress said he was despondent because of being without work. To relieve his wife, police quoted him as saying, of the necessity of supporting him and her daughter, he planned the slaying and suicide.

British Statesman, 70, Will Wed Miss Stella Charnaud, 37.

LONDON, Aug. 5—(AP) — The Marquis of Reading, once ambassador to the United States and later viceroy to India, will be married tomorrow, to the young woman who aided him in his rise to the rank of one of Great Britain's foremost statesmen.

His engagement to Miss Stella Charnaud, daughter of the late Charles Charnaud, who represented Great Britain on the international public debt mission to Turkey, was announced today. He is 70 years of age and she is 37.

Miss Charnaud was a member of the vice regal staff when Lord Reading was in India from 1921 to 1926 and returned with him to England in a similar capacity when he was succeeded by Lord Irwin. She became his chief assistant in all political matters and played an active role in his work in behalf of India at the first round table conference.

Rises to High Honors.

The marquis' first wife, the former Alice Edith Cohen, died here in March, 1930.

News of the engagement recalls Lord Reading's steady gravitation from the son of a London merchant to high honors from the empire. Born Rufus Daniel Isaacs, he started his career as a cabin boy, running away to sea at the age of 14, and spent two years on a sailing ship which often took him to the land he would one day rule.

After an unsuccessful venture on the stock exchange he studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1887. He represented the district of Reading in the house of commons for many years as a liberal in association with David Lloyd George. He was president of the Anglo-French loan mission to the United States in 1915, and high commissioner and special ambassador to America in 1918. He was elevated to the rank of marquis on his return from India.

KANSAS MOURNS DANIEL ANTHONY

Leavenworth Publisher, Congressman For 22 Years, Dies.

LEAVENWORTH, Kas., Aug. 5—(AP)—Kansas today mourned the death of Daniel Read Anthony, jr., who served twenty-two years as a representative in congress, longer than any other man.

Mr. Anthony, a republican, and former chairman of the house appropriations committee and a nephew of Susan B. Anthony, the woman suffragist, died late yesterday at his home, "Hilltop," near here, 18 days short of his 61st birthday anniversary. Funeral services will be held Thursday.

He served in the sixtieth and seventieth congresses, inclusive, declining to seek a seat in the seventy-first because of ill health.

Mr. Anthony was editor of the Leavenworth Times, which his father, Daniel Read Anthony, sr., a colonel in the Civil war founded in 1871.

FIGHT AGAINST HOPPERS LOSING

U. S. Entomologist Says Rapid Flying Insects Defy Poisoning.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—(AP)—Grasshoppers ravaging the fields of northwest and central states have broadened their range fifty miles a day by taking to their wings and have left little hope for their control this season.

This information was made public by Dr. W. H. Larrimer, entomologist, on the basis of reports received by the agriculture department yesterday. He said the poisoning campaign in the infested states was being conducted actively and that by continuing it throughout the fall and next spring the damage from almost certain outbreaks next year might be minimized.

The department is receiving preliminary reports of insect damage in the Dakotas, Nebraska, Iowa, Minnesota, and Montana. Detail reports are to come soon from country agents.

George L. Hoffman, director of the seed loan office, discussed the situation with President Hoover yesterday. He is expected to make known soon how much federal aid can be given the stricken sections.

FUNERAL OF M. P. ROONEY FRIDAY

Former Lincoln Police Captain Dies After Long Illness.

Funeral services for Michael P. (Mike) Rooney, 63, veteran Lincoln policeman who died Tuesday afternoon at his home in Melick court after a long illness, will be held at 9:30 o'clock Friday morning at St. Mary's cathedral with Msgr. P. L. O'Loughlin officiating. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

Rooney was born Jan. 12, 1868 near Dubuque, Ia. He came to Nebraska with his parents when he was fourteen years of age and lived on a farm near Crab Orchard. He was married to Marie E. Werner on Oct. 9, 1902. They made their home in Beatrice for two years before coming to Lincoln where he joined the Lincoln police force.

After serving in the department for nine years he moved, with his family to Torrington, Wyo., returning to Lincoln ten years later in 1923. He again accepted a position with the police department and during his service held ranks of sergeant and captain.

He had been ill for several months and during the past year had served on the force as a patrolman. He was forced to resign about six weeks ago because of ill health. He is survived by his wife; one daughter, Mrs Leona McManaman of Torrington, Wyo., and one brother, Miles Rooney, deputy sheriff of Douglas county.

New Cosmetologist Organization Grows

Between 75 and 100 members are now enrolled in the new independent cosmetologists' organization of Nebraska, formed two weeks ago at a meeting in David City. That report was made to the executive committee at a meeting held in Lincoln the first of this week. The membership now is about double what it was at the start.

An active canvass is to be made for additional members. Sponsors of the organization, including two of the three members of the state cosmetology board, claim it is an "all-Nebraska" concern and promise that the proceeds of dues paid by the members will be retained and used in this state for the benefit of the profession.

Plans are being made for the show at Hastings on October 11. A number of meetings will be arranged at different points to arouse interest in that event and also to extend the membership of the organization.

There are about 3,000 licensed cosmetologists in Nebraska, but not many of them are as yet affiliated with any professional association. About 500 who held licenses last year did not take out renewals for 1931; however, several hundred new applicants have come in this year to take their places.

U. S. JOB BUREAU SUCCESS IS CITED

Doak Informs Hoover 638,689 Were Given Work in 4 Months.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5—(AP)—The recently reorganized federal employment service is expected by Secretary Doak to have an appreciable effect upon the unemployment situation next winter.

In a letter to President Hoover, the secretary of labor said that from April 1 to July 31 this year, the service had found jobs for 281,769 unemployed persons. In making the information public, the chief executive said the service had rendered a large measure of accomplishment.

Secretary Doak wrote that by cooperating with state, city and other employment services, 638,689 persons had been found work in the four-month period. Since April 1 the number of federal and co-operative employment offices were increased from 279 to 332.

"The number of jobs that have been provided for the unemployed would undoubtedly be considered formidable under any conditions," Doak said, "but when the economic depression through which we are passing is taken into consideration, a little reflection will illustrate not only the importance of this task but the splendid results that have been obtained."

The service began its reorganization on March 13.

COAL HEAT COSTS LESS

Buy Now—At Low Summer Prices

COAL HEAT... COSTS LESS

In homes or apartments or commercial buildings a dollar buys more coal heat than it has for many years . . . . . .

If you buy wisely now, you will find that every dollar in your pocket is from 10 to 15% bigger than it was just a few months ago. This is particularly true when you spend your money for coal.

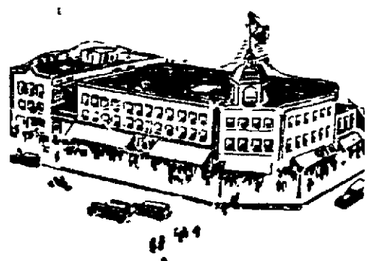

Today you can get 12 to 15% more coal heat for a dollar than you could get four months ago—10% more in all likelihood, than you will be able to get for a dollar four months hence. This is the season in which coal prices reach the lowest level of the year!

Consider in addition how much coal saves you over other fuels. It is approximated that coal saves 35 to 50% over the cost of the next most economical fuel, and 60 to 75% over the cost of the third fuel. Dollars saved which shrewd buyers will be able to use in realizing wants whose fulfillment in the past has been slightly beyond their means.

To Make Every Cent's Savings In Coal

In buying your coal now, though prices are at the year's lowest level, you won't make every important cent's saving unless each ton delivered to you weighs its full 2,000 pounds, and unless that quality of it is uniform throughout.

To make sure these important factors, purchase your coal through any one of the merchants listed at the bottom. Each has pledged himself to full weight and honest grading.

MISS PAT

— by Elenore Meherin

Chapter 2.

It caught the light of heaven on its golden wings. It shimmered and flashed. Then suddenly was still.

Out of the now tremulous hush, figures were running—her father and another hurrying along the sands.

The girl felt again that mighty exultation, that moment of inspired faith.

Without a word the father had dropped beside his wife. His arm comforted her. He leaned down and scanned the small, livid face of his son.

He turned abruptly, pleading: "Pat—take mother away."

This frightened her. "No—we will not-" Because when everyone else gave up, she would still hope—still work. She had read of strange, incredible recoveries. The drowned brought back to life. She would make them true.

Everyone now became unreal. The air tingled. Her father and this tall visitor from the skies were godlike. They were setting magically to work. They would bring Dickie back.

The young pilot knelt beside her brother. He seemed to glow, to sparkle with beautiful, clean vitality. To be pouring his strength into the stilled veins of the child.

He glanced once into Pat's hungry eyes and smiled. He said softly: "The heart beats."

Did she hear this? Did she only hope it?

Life Flows Back Into Face of Boy

The next moment she, too, was on her knees. And again the pilot looked at her. And she cried out weeping: "Dickie."

Life flowed faintly into her brother's face; flowed from one to another in streams of beautiful joy. The little boy opened startled eyes. He lived.

In an amber twilight Pat walked through the redwood lane. The tall young pilot swung along at her side.

He looked down at her. His eyes were laughing. The whole world laughed and was gorgeously different and unreal.

She wouldn't speak lest the marvelous dream should vanish. Lest she find herself again just plain Pat, planning a weekend visit from the gawky, reliable old Peter Thompson.

Now she walked on radiant mountain tops and the man beside her was a thousand times more wondrous than magazines had ever pictured.

It wouldn't last, of course. But it was an hour to remember. For always. When she was an old, old lady, she would tell of the day little Dickie went down in the water and for hours seemed dead. Then a man like a god came down from the skies. He brought life with him. He was beautiful.

"Of what are you thinking?" asked the shining youth.

"Oh," said Pat exaltedly "I feel so raised up—so grateful, as thought I can never be good enough from now on all the rest of my life."

"What an awful tragedy. But the visitation will probably pass."

'Afraid to Fly With You? No!'

Pat stole a look at his chuckling face and grinned. She said, a little wistfully: "Just the same I feel soppy with happiness. Airplanes are wonderful. When we heard your wings today it was beyond bearing—the suspense—the hope. They're adventure—they're beauty."

"And you've never ridden in one?" Would you be afraid?"

"With you?" said Pat, naively, "How could I."

"Of course you couldn't! You'll come, then, some sweet, starry night?"

"Oh, yes!"

But a little shadow went then across her joy. They were at the end of the path. Down there was the beach and his small golden airplane. He was going back—flying away in the twilight. She would not see him again—never, perhaps. And nothing so magnificent as this would happen again.

She ran her hand over the yellow wings. It was his plane. He had designed it all himself. He was very proud of it.

"Like it?" he now asked.

"Yes. I know now why Lindy felt that his plane was a person. It seems—a blessed person. Do you always ride in this?"

"Yes—and this is the one you'll ride in. I'll drop you a line."

She closed her eyes with frank, happy rapture and laughed.

He climbed into the fuselage. "Watch till I'm out of sight, will you? I'll wave from the clouds and you wave back."

Plane Soars on Flight to Romance.

The little plane flashed yellow against the fading sun; against the bright blue sky. Higher and higher—bird of romance, leading men to strange new quests; firing women with deep new adorations.

The girl on the beach waited. When it was but a speck, all but lost in the clouds, she was still waving.

All Friday Guy Elliott worked in a happy satisfaction. He stroked pridefully the wings of the model airplane he was perfecting. He said to it: "You darling!" and smiled.

Yesterday this plane on which he had worked two passionate years had enabled him to reach the very treacherous, forest-hemmed lake, make that almost vertical landing, win that adoring look from the prettiest face he'd seen in months. Pat—cute name. And the sweet way she ran her hand over the wings.

What a kid! — and so frankly taken with him. She didn't seem to know she was a brave, beautiful thing. Thought nothing of the way she'd dived for that little brother—the way she'd worked over him. He recalled her longing for lifelong goodness, and burst into a happy laugh. Well, it would be fun seeing her again—

He picked up a sheet of paper. At the top he hastily sketched his plane and underneath drew a cartoon of himself. He wrote:

"Will you come for a ride in that with this?"

Pat went twice a day to the postoffice. Just to get that line he had promised. But when it arrived, she was overcome.

She climbed out of the old machine and up the long steps of their cabin in such unconscious and radiant excitement her mother was alarmed.

"Why, what do you think, mother, he's an artist too! Isn't it perfectly wonderful? Look at that drawing. Isn't it marvelous? Did you ever know anyone like that?"

Laura Dawn surveyed the proud beaming girl. Her own youth with its ardent expectance came back to her. An hour ago Laura herself was 19—joyous and wildly eager. Love had come. She wanted Pat to know it in this way—glorious and sweet. A thing that would last — would grow.

Not the madness of a moment. But each has his own life to live

Pat's prompt, excited answer raised the young pilot's complacence to a sparkling and slightly dangerous level.

"Home Tuesday. Ready to fly immediately. At once. Or sooner if such could be arranged. Please have the stars out and the moon all lighted up."

He tucked the card in his pocket and whistled. Tonight! Late sunset and sweet, windless skies.

Pat, bursting with adventure and smugly buttoned into her heaviest sweater, went to the hall door and listened intently. She would make a running sprint of it and be out of the house before anyone suspected the thrilling flight she was to take.

She had been exceedingly careful when he phoned this morning. She spoke in such mouse-like tones, he could hardly hear. But then, Laura was in the living room. Laura might just put her foot down and refuse to let her go.

Father, Dickie Join in Adventure.

She tiptoed swiftly down the steps. She had reached the landing when her father, shrugging into his overcoat, came out from the hall.

"All set?"

She eyed him haughtily. "What for? Did I have a date with you?"

"No. I've one with you. I'll drive you down to the port.

"You're not invited! I should think you'd have more dignity."

"Than to play chauffeur to my daughter? Oh, I don't mind."

In sudden blank fear: "He didn't ask you, too, did he? You're not going to prevent me from going?"

She had just recovered from this prospect and was stiffly accepting her father's escort, when Dickie came running from the dining room. He had a big bulking coat buttoned up to his neck and a cap tied down over his ears. He stopped short, seeing his father. "Gee—didn't know you were going!"

"I suppose you were counting on it!" Pat demanded. "I can't stir out of the house without one of you before me and the other tagging behind."

She climbed into her father's car. "Well—come along," she said sharply to the crestfallen youngster. "You might as well be there to catch me, too!"

Ten minutes later, her huff gave way to a rapt excitement. Guy Elliott stood beside his plane. He came forward and greeted her gaily. Just as tall—just as glorious as she had fancied him. She half expected to find him shrunken—find him ordinary.

She waved a trembling had to her father—then ran back and kissed him.

Fly Over Mountains, Seas, She Dreams.

Tremendous zoom and whirr. Lifting from the earth.

She sat upright—every nerve on fire. Oh! the sense of rising—of the wings spread out.

They began to climb. They were going into the clouds.

"Look down. Sunset on the ocean. Pools of fire over there. Lovely mountains. Like it?"

His face framed in the sunset seemed more than ever glowing.

"I don't want to go down again—ever."

"We don't have to," he shouted back.

They both laughed. Their joy had a crystalline sweetness.

Now she felt free — utterly unafraid. Once the plane banked very sharply. The young man laid his hand a moment on hers, pressed it reassuringly.

"Can't keep you too long? Papa get mad?"

"Will you take me again?"

"Tomorrow—"

But he sailed higher. He tossed his head and laughed. She wished to fly and fly—over mountains. Over many seas. On and on.

"Now what—was it as big a thrill as you expected?" he asked as they finally landed and he kept her a moment sitting beside him in the evening dark.

She raised starry eyes and murmured: "A thousand times more . . The most beautiful time I ever had."

"Glad I gave it to you." And as Pat continued gazing joyously into his eyes, he stooped, let his lips brush lightly on hers. So a man claims the girl who has not loved before.

Lois Rates High with Summer Breakfasts

When Lois was a girl she remembered the distaste she had felt on summer mornings. The family did not eat breakfast together. First her father had his, then her older brother, then a sister. She herself came down about half past eight. By that time the table was a mess. The cloth was spotted and crumby. The humidity had made the cloth hang limply. The butter was soft and runny. Flies were in the sugar bowl and hovering over the jam. The ready to eat cereal was usually as limp as the table cloth She made [illegible] days, that when she had a home of her own things would be done differently on summer mornings. And they were, too.

She used the screened in porch. The table was enameled in ivory and green. On it she laid fringed tray cloths of green and white checked gingham. She found some inexpensive dishes, rather gay, some old fashioned hob nail tumblers.

A bowl of fruit a pewter one that looked cool with its silvery sheen, was the centerpiece.

She started the meal with well chilled orange juice or fresh apple sauce or melon. Then came ready to eat cereal which had been well cooked in the oven until it crackled almost on sight.

Sometimes there was crisp bacon, or a puffy omelet. Fresh muffins with fresh jam and chilled little butter pats came in with the coffee. This was made in the drip pot and did not have that overcooked odor which is as unattractive as the flavor when coffee is boiled or percolated too long.

Want More Beauty Parlor Inspectors

State Cosmetologists Meeting Here Recommend Additional Officers On Inspection Force.

Employment of more state inspectors to enforce the beauty parlor statutes was recommended in a resolution passed Tuesday evening at a meeting of the Nebraska State Cosmetologists association held at the Lindell hotel.

According to Miss Norine Lewis, Lincoln, president, there is only one inspector at the present time, and at least one or two more are needed.

Nearly seventy-five members attended the annual dinner. The program consisted of a number of short talks by members and a brief period of entertainment.

Miss Agnes Schmitt, member of the Nebraska cosmetology board, summarized the purposes of the national cosmetology convention to be held in Milwaukee, Wis., August 10, 11, and 12.

Plan Amalgamation.

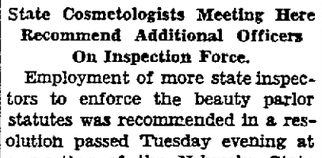

"One of the biggest events which probably will take place at the convention," she said, "will be the amalgamation of the American Association of Cosmetologists with a membership of 4,000, and the National Hairdressers association with more than 6,000 members. This union will mean more co-operation within the beauty culture field."

Miss Norine Lewis of Lincoln, president of the state association, presided as toastmistress and called on the following for a report of the work done in their respective units of the organization: Mrs. Adah Steers, president of the Omaha unit; Norman Folda, Omaha, chairman of the 1931 state convention; Margaret Gunston, Omaha, vice president of the state association; Nellie Morgan Brown, Omaha, financial secretary of the state association; Katherine Schmitt, representative of the Lincoln unit.

Edith Belle Lewis of Lincoln, gave a review of a recent joint meeting held with the Independent Hairdressers association of Grand Island. James H. Seward of Omaha and Stephen A. Spiznagle of Omaha spoke on co-operation and unification within the state association.

Entertainment during the dinner hour was supplied by Evelyn Libbe, tap dancer; and Evelyn Elais, trumpeter, accompanied by Verna Pooley, all of the Omaha unit.

Escaped girl Bares Harem Horrors

That monster, the Turk, Ali Bey
—Those beasts, the eunuchs—
Those hideous days, nights—
Can she—could any woman—ever forget?

HIRPSIMA, or, in American, Rose, was sixteen—in the first blush of womanhood—when wild Kurdish tribesmen swooped down upon her home. She and her family fled for their lives.

That night, on a lonely road, came a clatter of hoofs. Rose, her mother and sister, crouched in the darkness. She heard a spatter of shots—saw her father fall—murdered.

Escaping, the grief-stricken women sought refuge with a friend in Smyrna. Here, broken-hearted, the mother soon died. And here, at length, Rose fell in love with the son of the house.

But fresh massacres broke out. The city moaned with cries of maimed and ravished. The butchers waylaid Rose's lover. She had to watch, helpless, as they sprayed him with bullets.

And now fate dealt its cruelest blow. Rose and her sister fell into the dripping hands of the blood-drunk soldiers. They tore her sister away—screaming. And Rose, they flung—a slave—into the harem of that merciless wolf, the dread Turkish General, Ali Bey.

What terrible fate awaited this gently nurtured young girl behind the silken draperies of the harem door?

What dark secrets of harem life did she learn—secrets that until now have not been whispered outside these eunuch-ruled prisons of the East?

Did she come, unsmirched, through that black muck of sensuality that befouls every female harem slave?

FLOODS SUBSIDE ABOUT TAMPICO

Torrential Rains Stop After Heavy Loss of Life, Property.

TAMPICO, Mex., Aug. 5—(AP)—Torrential runs which flooded Tampico and other cities in Vera Cruz and Tamaulipas with the loss of many lives ended today and gave inhabitants an opportunity to take stock of their losses.

The flood water, reaching a depth of over three feet in some of the most populous districts of Tampico, receded sufficiently for resumption of streetcar and automobile traffic in the center of the city early today.

Three men and a woman were caught in the swirling flood in Tampico and swept out to sea, and residents reported seeing numerous bodies floating down the swollen Panuco river from the interior, as well as hundreds of drowned cattle.

Rum Racketeer Refuses to Pay Tribute; Killed

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 5—(AP)—The life of a newcomer to Baltimore's liquor racket was claimed today by old timers to whom police said he had refused to pay tribute.

The victim was John Dearholt, 37, who came here two months ago from New York. He was found slumped over the wheel of his automobile a few blocks from his saloon, his head torn by three pistol slugs. He died a few hours later, refusing to tell police who shot him.

Dearholt, police said, came here with his wife, and a short time later administered a beating to two members of an East Baltimore liquor ring who sought to extort money from him. A few days later a consignment of Dearholt's beer was hijacked.

She alleges the defendants, both local attorneys, represented her at the closing of her father's estate in Platte county in 1929. Claim is made that there was left at the settlement of the estate the sum of $1,960 for which a check was drawn made payable to herself and the defendants. The plaintiff alleges she endorsed the check and gave it to Stevens who is said to have also endorsed it and given it to Greene with instructions to cash it, take $500 for his services, give $500 to Stevens for his services and turn the rest over to the plaintiff. She charges Greene has never turned over any of the money and asks that the court determine the proper amount of attorney fees for the two defendants and give her Judgment for the balance.

Armour Runs Long Putt To Get a Tie

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich, Aug. 5—(AP)—Tommy Armour, British open and United States professional champion, sank a 45-foot putt for an eagle three on the 18th hole yesterday after an amazing 36-hole performance to save himself from defeat by an 18-year-old school boy amateur.

That putt gave him a tie with Charles Koosis of Detroit, the young amateur, in the Michigan open tournament, each having a score of 288 for 72 holes, even par for the Cascade course. It gave Armour a 69 for the afternoon round. Duplicating his morning score and wiping out the unfortunate start of 79 in the first round of the tournament. The veteran and the youth will play it off in 18 holes tomorrow.

Koosis, state amateur champion, who has been burning up Michigan golf courses for the last year, shot remarkably consistent tournament golf. His first two rounds were par 72's. Today he turned in a 73 and a 71.

Al Watrous, defending champion, finished in sixth place with a 295.

50-Lb. Russian Cabbages
Encouragement for Ladies
Labor Union Samurai
Ships for Sale

Russia provides interesting news daily.

The truthful Walter Duranty cables Adolph S. Ochs that Russia, using "extra rich fertilizers" raises giant vegetables, 50 pound cabbages, tomatoes weighing two to three pounds each, egg plants one yard and a half long, with plants 20 feet high, tobacco six feet high, with 150 leaves to each stem, seven tons of dried leaf to the acre.

Some vegetables are grown on "framework high above the weeds." The intensive fertilizing costs $350 an acre, but lasts five years, about $70 per acre. And the south will want to know that the Russian Burbank named Zolotof, has produced an average of five tons of cotton to an acre, and our wheat and cotton yesterday dropped to new low prices.

The Muscle Shoals commission, on Sept. 1, will receive bids for "lease and operation in the interests of fertilizer production and of agriculture."

Selling to farmers at a reasonable price, such concentrated fertilizers as they use in Russia, instead of compelling farmers to pay freight on several hundred pounds of worthless stuff in order to get one hundred pounds of fertilizer mixed with it, might be Bolshevism, but it is the kind that would suit the farmer.

Chapin Collins, editor of the Montesano Vidette, of Montesano, Washington, sends this to encourage ladies.

Years ago, William Moore, married a lady 16 years older than he. People said "too bad, he will have to take care of her when she is old."

Mr. Moore is now 84, his wife who celebrated her 100th birthday on July 26, is taking care of him, an invalid.

She does all her housework, all the work in her vegetable and flower garden, and finds life more interesting than ever.

Her father was a French-Canadian trader, with the Hudson Bay Co., her mother a Spokane Indian.

When she was born Britain and the United States were disputing the great Oregon country. California and the southwest belonged to Mexico.

The lady has eight children, 10 grandchildren, five great grandchildren, three great great grandchildren by the first two of her four husbands.

She married Moore 40 years after her third husband died and her motto is nil desperandum.

Transatlantic ship lines issue new rates. First class to Europe $155 in Winter, "third class" $73.

"Third class" might be left out of rates on American ships.

Kermit Roosevelt, son of the President, and his associate, Vincent Astor, and others, set a good example by running good ships to Europe all one class, fare $100.

Whether they make him President or not, the people will remember with admiration, the news concerning Governor Roosevelt of New York. A former victim of infantile paralysis, now fortunately recovered. Governor Roosevelt has given to New York's department of health a pint of his blood to be used in combatting an outbreak of the dreadful infantile paralysis in New York city.

A serum made from the blood of those that have recovered from the disease is found to be the best remedy.

The government having proved that running ships is one of several things that it does not know how to do, is about to dispose of some shipping. It is understood that Kermit Roosevelt and Vincent Astor, in the east and a western group, the Dollar Line interests, Herbert Fleishhacker of San Francisco and others, will make bids. The government of course will make no sale that would, now or later, involve foreign control of these American ships or a foreign flag over them.

What the government doesn't know about ships has cost the people about one thousand million dollars.

But we know at least that we ought to have some ships.

Rioting in Chicago's Negro quarter with several killings and 150,000 Chicago Negroes asking protection, should cause hard thinking by those responsible for law and order.

When the Empire state building was dedicated in New York, Mr. Frederick Ecker, head of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., an able man, acquainted with American conditions, said the country was to be congratulated on having gone through two years of depression "without violence."

Let us hope that condition will continue.

Dispatches from Chicago say "40,000 or 50,000 Negroes are enrolled as Communists," but the communism is more or less imaginary, and the 50,000 definitions of the word would be enlightening. Unemployment and poverty provide a good seed bed for communism, temporarily.

Merritt Starr is dead in Chicago, aged 75. He was the lawyer, representing Standard Oil, who set aside a $29,000,000 fine that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis ordered Standard Oil to pay. That looked like "big money" in those days, but almost any little standard octopus could pay it now with ease.

Judge Landis now rules baseball, and his judgments cannot be set aside

NO DISCRETION LEFT IN BOARD

Zelen Says Control Body Must Let Contract Low Bidder.

Discretionary powers of the board of control were argued in a mandamus action Wednesday before District Judge Frost. At the close of the hearing the judge said he would announce his findings within the next two or three days.

Involved is a year's contract for electric light bulbs to be used in the various institutions under the board of control. Ordinarily, these institutions require about $2,500 worth of bulbs each year.

Hyman Zelen, operating the Western Electric Supply Co., Lincoln, asks that the court order the board to give him the 1931 contract for the bulbs on the ground that he submitted the "lowest and best" bid at the letting held the first week in February. The board of control gave the contract to Westinghouse Electric company.

On the witness stand, O. R. Shatto, secretary of the board of control, testified that the board had no personal antagonism toward Zelen but that it considered "on the whole" that acceptance of the bid of the other firm was for the best interest of the state. He said that it was his understanding that in 1928 when Zelen had the contract it was necessary to replace a large percentage of the bulbs. He abided by the contract and made all the replacements, but it put our engineers to an excessive amount of trouble," Shatto declared.

Zelen produced statements purporting to show that his bulbs stood up under standard tests conducted by regular electrical testing companies

Shatto admitted under cross examination that there have been times when excessive voltage of electrical current was used at the penitentiary and that in such instances light bulb replacement always runs high at the institution.

As attorney for Zelen, Louis Finkelstein argued that the board of control may not disregard low bids where fulfillment of the contract is guaranteed as in this case. Assistant Attorney General Homer Kyle argued that the board may use its discretion and make such choice as it considers is for the best interest of the public.

OIL COMPANIES STOP LOANING

No More Equipment To Be Supplied To Retailers.

C. M. Sutherland, secretary of the Nebraska Petroleum Marketers, Incorporated, announced Wednesday that the organization had taken cognizance of the petroleum industry depression by agreeing to discontinue loaning equipment to filling stations or other retail distributors of gasoline and oil.

The equipment concerned, he said, consists of pumps, tanks and other dispensing equipment for gasoline or kerosene.

"This new movement," Sutherland explained, "has been brought about by the distress of the whole petroleum industry, not only in the marketing branch but in the producing and refining branches in the 11 producing states.

"The latest survey available shows that there are 2.73 gasoline pumps for every mile of highway in the United States. It is also recorded that there are 900,000 pumps with an equal number of lubricating outfits loaned by the oil companies of the United States."

The average cost per pump and other equipment, he said, is $245, and the total value of the loaned equipment is $233,750,000. Equipment now loaned, he said, will not be recalled.

The larger companies agreeing to this were the Standard Oil of Nebraska; Sinclair Refining company; Phillips Petroleum company; Continental Oil company; Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation; the Texas company; The Marathon Oil company; Deep Rock Oil corporation; U. S. Oil works; Cities Service; Barnsdall refineries and Mona Motor Oil company; Shell; Walker Oil company; National Refining company; Johnson Oil company and Tekemah Oil company.

COUNTY SCHOOLS TO GET $33,684

State Apportionment Is Larger Than Amount Given In January.

One hundred twenty-seven Lancaster county schools are entitled to receive $33,684.68 in state apportionment funds at this time, according to the semi-annual certification made Wednesday by County Superintendent Correll to County Treasurer Albers. The same schools received $30,542.58 in state apportionment funds last January.

The Lincoln school district is entitled to $23,904.28 of the total amount certified at this time. In January, the Lincoln district obtained $21,729.

By statute, one-fourth of appropriation funds are divided equally among the various districts. Under this provision, each school gets $19.98 from the money available at this time.

The other three-fourths is proraied among the schools according to the number of students. With 28,315 pupils in the 127 districts, districts will get $1.10 for each pupil from this three-fourths.

DOG ENJOYS ROMP WITH POLICEMAN

For the benefit of those who may have seen Officer Harold Graves gamboling about the vicinity of the Whittier school with a frisky dog Wednesday morning, let it be said that it was all in the line of duty. Although the dog, apparently getting a big kick out of the performance, did everything known to the canine mind to prolong the pleasure, the gleam in the officer's eyes belied any idea that he was enjoying himself. He at last succeeded in capturing the dog, a Boston Bull, which Elizabeth Poole, Des Moines, lost from her car when she stopped here a short while Tuesday night.

KEHM IS GIVEN COUNTY POSITION

Omaha Solon May Resign Seat and Take Job He Helped to Create.

On account of his appointment as deputy assessor of Douglas county, State Representative Karl Kehm of Omaha may resign his seat in the Nebraska legislature. The job which he now takes is one created by a bill passed at the regular session of the legislature this year. Kehm will draw a salary of $3,000 a year, as fixed in this bill, which was introduced by him at the request of Sam Greenleaf, county assessor.

In a newspaper statement at Omaha, Greenleaf declared there was no understanding between himself and Kehm at the time the measure was introduced and passed that he would name the latter as the new deputy.

Kehm has served three terms in the legislature, including his present one, which is incomplete. He was chairman of the house committee on state institutions two years ago and this year.

Some criticism of his appointment to the berth created by the bill he sponsored last winter is being expressed at Omaha. The oath of office to which all members of the legislature subscribe is being quoted to the effect that "I have not accepted nor will I receive directly or indirectly any money or other valuable thing from any corporation, company, or person, or any promise of office for any official act or influence (for any vote I may give or withhold on any bill, resolution, or appropriation)."

An amendment to Kehm's bill, which Representative C. J. Mitchell of Lancaster county caused to be attached to it, fixes the salary of the assessor in this county at $2,600 per year, but does not provide for an additional deputy here.

Kehm Not Decided.

OMAHA, Aug. 5—(AP)—State Representative Karl Kehm today announced that he had not as yet definitely accepted the position of chief deputy to County Assessor Sam K. Greenleaf of Douglas county. The job, created by passage of a bill introduced by Kehm, carries a salary of $3,000. Kehm was offered the position Monday when the new law became effective.

Kehm said he wanted to retain his seat in the legislature and at the same time hold the county position.

"Until I learn definitely whether I can do so under the law, I will not accept Greenleaf's offer," he said.

METCALFE GETS NO WORK TO DO

Extradition Hearing Is Put Over Until Friday Morning.

It was Lieutenant Governor Ted Metcalfe's hard luck to be prevented again Wednesday from exercising the prerogative of Nebraska's chief executive, through the postponement until Friday of the hearing that was to have taken place before him on Wednesday on the request from Minnesota to have George E. Ross extradited to that state on the charge of abandoning his four minor children in Minneapolis.

Metcalfe drove to Lincoln Tuesday, expecting the hearing to take place on that day, but the attorney representing Ross was busy and couldn't spare the time. It was then tentatively arranged to have the matter submitted to the lieutenant governor Wednesday forenoon. However, the lawyers for the prosecution and the defendant got together and decided to let the whole thing go ovr until Friday.

So it was set for 10 a. m. of that date, and Lieut. Gov. Metcalfe, without a single iota of official business to come before him, started back for Omaha. He stopped over enroute at the Ashland national guard camp.

Now it looks as though the lieutenant governor may be cheated out of his only chance to perform an executive act at the capitol, since Governor Bryan is expected to return Friday. The governor is said to be "inspecting highways" in a neighboring state, but he talks over the long distance telephone every day or so with his private secretary, H. B. Porterfield.

If Bryan should drive in Friday morning, Metcalfe will lose out again. Should the governor not show up until afternoon of that day, the hearing will come off before the lieutenant governor, provided the attorneys don't put it off again.

THREE COUNTIES AIDED IN FIGHT ON GRASSHOPPERS

Three more counties have been granted state aid in the fight to exterminate grasshopers which are devastating farmers' crops. Announcement was made Wednesday from the governor's office that allotments of $400 each have been made to Brown, Sheridan and Webster counties for that purpose. Applications just received from Kearney, Polk and Perkins counties are being investigated and if the conditions justify they will also be given assistance.

H. B. Porterfield, secretary to Governor Bryan, said that Agriculture Secretary Felton was authorized to take action in extending relief to grasshopper stricken areas whiles the governor was absent from the state. The amounts set aside for Brown, Sheridan and Webster counties were made available August 1, Porterfield stated.

Altogether the sum of $8,900 has now been authorized for expenditure in combatting the grasshopper pest, out of the $25,000 appropriation by the legislature for destruction of the corn borer and other insect enemies of agriculture. This money has been divided among fifteen or more counties.

Receivership Case At Kearney Comes Up Later; Drouth Broken In The North

BANK HEARING IS POSTPONED

Recurrence of Radke's Illness Delays Kearney Trial.

Attorney Telephones Judge and Has Continuance Granted.

KEARNEY, Neb., Aug. 5—(AP)—Illness of F. C. Radke, chief counsel in the state bank receivership division, caused postponement here today of a hearing before District Judge B. O. Hostetler on an application for the transfer of bank receiverships to E. H. Lulkart, trade and commerce department secretary.

Radke called Judge Hostetler by telephone from Grand Island, saying a recurrence of his recent indisposition compelled him to return to Lincoln. Judge Hostetler did not fix another date for the hearing.

Radke At Office.

To give F. C. Radke, chief counsel of the bank receivership division, ample time in which to recover from a recent illness, officials of the state banking department returned to Lincoln last night from Grand Island, foregoing plans to continue their receivership transfer hearings at Kearney today.

Radke suffered a slight relapse of his recent illness at the close of the hearing at Grand Island yesterday, and was returned here for treatment. E H. Lulkart, department secretary said.

His condition, however, is not such as to cause any marked delay in the hearings, Lulkart said.

Radke was at his office attending to business as usual Wednesday morning.

Besides his widow he leaves a son and three daughters.

Hall County Invaded By Swarming Hoppers

Land In Corn Field and Go About Its Destruction in a Systematic Manner.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb, Aug. 5—(AP)—Hall county today recorded its first consequential loss from grasshoppers.

The hoppers, he believed, were forced into the cornfield when an adjoining patch was mowed.

ROBBER NOVICE IS TOO NERVOUS

Tries Hold Up Northeast Nebraska Bank But Fails.

WATERBURY, Neb., Aug. 5—An unmasked man attempted to rob the Waterbury State bank about 2 p. m. Tuesday but became nervous, ran out of the bank, and escaped in a car south toward Emerson or Wakefield.

When the man entered the bank he pointed a gun at Miss Blanche Noe, an employe, and demanded money. The young woman stepped into the vault as if to get money, but did not come out.

Noticing something wrong, D. G. Smith, cashier, came from another part of the bank and inquired what was wanted. The stranger replied "Times are hard and I have to do this." His hand holding the gun was trembling. Suddenly he remarked, "I can't go through with it," and ran out of the building to his car, which employes said bore a Dakota county license plate.

The bridge commission has already accepted the offer and yesterday the city commission set next Monday as the date for an open hearing to discuss the offer. Meanwhile, the city commissioners will study the offer at a private meeting tomorrow.

TWO FREED ON HABEAS CORPUS

Ebsen Tapscott Not Identified in Red Cloud Robbery.

DES MOINES, Ia., Aug. 5—(AP)—Judge Russell Jordan today issued a writ of habeas corpus releasing Alfred Ebsen, 23, Duncombe, Ia., and Foster Tapscott, 28, Laclede, Mo., from the city jail, where both were held while Nebraska authorities investigated their possible connection with a bank robbery July 2 at Red Cloud, in which $4,000 was taken. Ebsen's two brothers, Harry and Theodore, are held in the Nebraska penitentiary for safe keeping pending trial for the robbery.

State Sheriff Michael Endres said he had expected that Alfred Ebsen and Foster Tapscott, held at Des Moines, would be revealed as witnesses to the Red Cloud robbery had been unable to identify them in connection with the holdup. Attempts to link them with another robbery at Oketo, Kas., also failed, Endres said.

CLAIM ENTITLED TO RIVER WATER

Irrigationists In Platte Valley Say Unjustly Treated.

LEXINGTON, Neb., Aug. 5—(AP)—Irrigation interests in this district have protested to state and federal officials against the government's reported practice of impounding the normal flow of the North Platte river.

The chambers of commerce here and at Cozad and Gothenburg have telegraphed Governor Bryan and Secretary Wilbur at Washington. The Dawson county farm bureau and the Lower Platte Irrigation association have added their protests.

Irrigation ditches along the lower Platte have been dry for two weeks to the damage of corn and beets. Growers say the beet crop will be a failure unless water is obtained shortly.

Officers of various irrigation districts have gone to Bridgeport to see R. H Willis of the state public works department, and to Guernsey, Wyo., where is the government manager in charge of the river reservoirs.

Their argument is that reservoirs should impound only surplus water from the river and not the natural flow on which the lower Platte irrigation projects depend.

GERING, Neb, Aug. 5— (AP) — Three young people are in a hospital at Scottsbluff as the result of a three-car collision on the highway a mile south of here. Two of the automobiles burned.

Leo Douglas' auto then crashed into the two parked cars. Gasoline ignited and destroyed Douglas and Schmidt's cars, while Omelty's was hurled into the side ditch.

Youth's Death Due To Natural Causes

Body of Young Denver Musician Found In Clump of Weeds In South Part of Sidney.

SIDNEY, Neb., Aug. 5—(AP)—The death of Aubrey Andreasen, 23-year-old Denver musician, was ascribed by County Attorney R F. Kepler to natural causes. Andreasen's body was found in a weed patch Tuesday morning. He had been missing since Sunday.

Jack Marshall, leader of the orchestra with which Andreasen had been playing for three weeks, told Kepler the young man had been ill all that time. With the other musicians he drove here from Craig, Colo., and suffered from acute indigestion all the way. Sunday he was still ill, and took a walk with another youth towards the south part of town. There they separated.

Andreasen had suffered a hemorrhage and was known to have frequent nose bleeds.

YES, IT'S HOT!

With the perspiration pouring down our back in spite of the friendly offices of an electric fan, we are suddenly reminded this was to be the year of the great chill—an abnormal summer in which crops were threatened with destruction by fitful frosts and freezes during July and August.

The weather specialist who peered into his glass globe, or possibly merely smoked his pipe, deserves no sympathy. His portentous announcement after the extremely mild winter of 1930-31 was simply based upon the old saw that one extreme followed another.

Now scientists have discovered there is another grave menace confronting the world. The Antarctic ice, they discovered, is thicker than it has been for many years, and the great barrier, upon the edge of which Commander Byrd built his camp of Little America, has projected itself further into the ocean than in many years. This, they say, is to have a disturbing effect upon climatic conditions in the Northern hemisphere, and even more serious results in the great grain-producing countries of South America. The years of 1932 and 1933 are to be extremely hot and dry, vast destruction of crops is likely to ensue, with serious food shortages throughout the world.

The farmer who has been exchanging a bushel of wheat for a couple of packages of cigarets is not likely to be greatly perturbed by this prophecy. He has heard the "surplus" blamed so continuously for the present depressed price of his grain and most every product which comes from the farm that he would view a drouth and a shortage of food with more or less relief. At least it would not be possible to yell "surplus" every time the unsatisfactory prices of farm products were mentioned. The excess stores of foodstuffs which scream forth on every occasion would be a thing of the past and the world would be bidding eagerly for the necessities to keep body and soul together.

Possibly the increasing emphasis which is revealed in the reports on climatic conditions not only here in the United States but elsewhere is due to the improved facilities for reporting them.

Here are only a few of the events which have transpired in the last four years:

A great flood in the lower Mississippi valley which inundated millions of acres of land, forced large populations to flee from their homes and their places of business, and entailed a loss estimated at a billion dollars.

Successive drouth conditions in Montana, parts of Idaho, and the western Canadian provinces which for two seasons greatly reduced or destroyed growing crops in vast areas.

The worst drouth in fifty years in the southern states, and parts of the Ohio valley, resulting in the loss of all crops, and great hardship for hundreds of thousands of people.

The mildest winter in more than a quarter of a century throughout the United States.

The most bitterly cold winter in more than a century in Europe, with temperatures in Siberia, parts of the Balkans, Germany and Austria descending to 70 degrees below zero. The mountains regions of Central Europe and most of Russia buried under the deepest snow ever recorded. London and the British isles covered with snow and dust carried on the wings of a bitter northwest gale from the steppes of Russia.

Insect plagues throughout the United States and Europe, with the greatest damage in the northern tier of states in America and particularly severe in Italy.

Drouth and pestilence and floods in India and China.

It would seem the weather has gotten out of control and there should be a law to force it to behave. And yet in the record there is splendid evidence of the mighty forces of nature which are constantly at work to equalize the efforts of man. His great struggle is against nature, and he is, in spite of his infinite wisdom, very much at Nature's mercy.

BAD PRACTICE IN HANDLING PUBLIC FUNDS.

One effect of the new law providing for payment of bank service charges on public funds was evidently not foreseen by the legislature. This is the tendency on the part of county treasurers to hold back their remittances to the state treasury, so that their local banks can retain possession of their funds a longer time and receive payment of the service charges thereon.

Such a practice, if generally followed, may lead to friction between the state and the various counties. Under the law the state treasurer has authority to require payment of money due from county treasurers at such reasonable intervals as he may see fit. The custom heretofore has been for county officials to remit once or twice a month, and to keep their payments close to the amounts collected each month. Now the inclination is among some of them to withhold a considerable part of the tax receipts and other money belonging to the state, as a favor to the local banks.

Until the service charge came into being, bankers were less anxious to secure large deposits of public funds. They paid 2 or 3 per cent interest on such deposits and claimed they could not reloan the money profitably. But when they can get 1 per cent back from the county as a service charge, it changes the situation. The present disposition seems to be to secure as much of this low rate money as possible.

The state treasury has not suffered to any extent thus far from the slowing up process, but a continuance of the policy by county treasurers anxious to oblige their home bankers may later on cause some difficulty. It may become necessary for the state treasurer to use his authority in requiring the county officers to remit more fully than a few of them are doing.

One noticeable instance is that of the motor vehicle license revenue due the state from Douglas county, of which not more than half collected during the first six months of 1931 had been paid into the state treasury on July 1. From that one county about $80,000 was still owing on the date mentioned. Others were proportionately delinquent.

The state's business cannot be properly conducted on any such basis. It cannot afford to let the counties have its money to use without interest, merely to afford their banks an additional source of revenue. Whatever net interest income may be had upon the state's money belongs of right to itself.

Loose financing caused the state government to go into the hole 4½ million dollars several years ago, necessitating a special levy of taxes to make up the deficit. No more such experiences as that are wanted.

Let every tub stand on its own bottom.

LEARNING GEOGRAPHY.

No single agency has done so much to make geographers of the people of the United States, and probably of the entire world, as the airplane. When the wireless a couple of years ago conveyed to an anxious public the intelligence that three aviators, flying from Europe to the America, and who were long overdue, were stranded on a small island in the Strait of Belle Isle, probably not one person in a thousand in this country knew the location of that strait, but before night there were few who had not located it, and they haven't forgotten.

When Col. Lindbergh made his flight over Central America, visiting all of the capitals, people learned the names of cities and their locations and also found out more about the countries than they had ever dreamed of prior to that time. More recently they followed Post and Gatty in their whirlwind dash around the globe and they picked up more geography, forgotten, if it had ever been learned.

People of the United States will know more about northern Canada before the Lindberghs hop across the strait than some know about their own states. The information has been available for 140 years, since a great part of the country was explored by Sir Alexander Mackenzie, who set out on his first expedition from Fort Chippewyan on Lake Athabasca in 1789. At that time he explored to its mouth the great river which bears his name, and three years later he ascended the Peace river, crossed the Rocky mountains and made his way to the Pacific.

The Lindberghs are now flying over the territory first seen and charted by Dr. Mackenzie so many years ago, and are landing in waters, to some of which he gave names. The Mackenzie basin is the greatest drainage area on the North American continent with the single exception of the Mississippi system, the streams in many places widening into great lakes.

The Mackenzie river has its origin under the name of the Athabasca river in the Rocky mountains near the eastern border of British Columbia. It flows northeast for 687 miles, falling into Lake Athabasca, emerging as the Slave river and flowing north 210 miles into the Great Slave lake. It thence assumes the name of the Mackenzie river and flows into the Arctic ocean at Mackenzie bay.

The estimated length of the stream is 2,500 miles and the area of the basin is 590 000 square miles. During the summer months the river is navigated by the steamers of the Hudson Bay company during the greater part of its course from Great Slave lake to the Arctic ocean.

LET MURRAY DO IT.

President Hoover is overlooking a good bet in not appointing Governor William H. Murray of Oklahoma, better known as Alfalfa Bill, as chairman of the federal farm board. Of course Mr. Hoover would have to overlook Governor Murray's political affiliation but he should be willing to do that if he could find the man to lead the way to farm relief.

Governor Murray is showing what he can do in the Oklahoma oil fight. The price being paid for crude oil is too low due to overproduction, he believes. Alfalfa Bill knows what to do in a situation like this. He sends out the national guardsmen to shut down the oil wells.

The same condition of overproduction confronts the wheat industry that is troubling the oil business. Everybody knows the remedy for the situation, that is cut down production, thereby eliminating the surplus and sending the price of wheat soaring. The difficulty is that nobody has the nerve to apply this remedy.

But nobody can accuse Governor Murray of lacking courage. He would do more than merely urge the farmers to cut down on their wheat acreages as the farm board has been doing for many months. Alfalfa Bill would tell them what to do in words that they could understand and which might not look so well in print. If this counsel went unheeded, the Oklahoman wouldn't wait until the next year to say "I told you so."

He's a little handicapped in trying to increase prices for crude oil because he can't do anything about oil production in other states besides Oklahoma. But if the president as commander in chief of the naval and military forces would give him any backing Alfalfa Bill would have no difficulty in handling the wheat problem.

Probably Governor Murray wouldn't be able to get any of the big battleships up the Missouri river as far as Nebraska but the marines and the coast guards could be sent on to this territory to keep the farmers from planting wheat. The regular army would be employed to good advantage. Sentry posts could be established on the section lines. The aviation units could be employed to good advantage at nights to see that none of the farmers attempted to plant a little grain when the army and navy were asleep.

There is no need to take care of all these minor details at this time, however. The first thing is to get the job for Governor Murray. This will mean that he must get a little publicity so that he will be in the limelight enough that his appointment won't cause too severe criticism of the national administration for a person who is naturally as retiring and self-effacing as the Oklahoma governor, however, this publicity naturally will be quite annoying but he should submit to it for the good of the cause.

HOMELY PHILOSOPHY

ON BLUFFING.

You know many persons who are trying to create impressions about themselves that are not true, and you bluff considerably yourself.

Consequently you have come to wonder if there are any persons in the whole wide world who are just exactly what they appear to be.

Most every one has mean traits and would like to keep them covered.

Perhaps you average as high as the general run but not much better.

Yes, there is much bluffing in the world.

If there were not there would be a general disruption.

The number of marriages would be reduced if the prospective bride and groom really knew each other better.

Many strong friendships would be lost if all the meanness of each individual were known.

It is well for business, for social and economic systems that so many have the desire and the will power to control the worst that is in every one of us.

Fortunately pride and the ambition to be thought well of keeps the worst down and it is nothing to be alarmed about because there is personal deception to an extent—it has always existed.

The worst may be there but you can try to bring out the best.

JUST FOLKS by Edgar A. Guest

A THOUGHT.

Perhaps we've wandered far from what God meant
And planned these lives of our's to be—
Made ourselves slaves instead of staying free,
And sowed the world with crops of discontent.
With every year new trifles we invent,
Which not to own is labeled poverty,
Increasing thus the stream of misery
'Gainst which our strength and courage must be spent.
Fortune and fame and pride vexations make.
If we were wise enough these lures to scorn,
Perhaps our hearts would not so often ache;
There might be less to fret about and mourn.
Seeking too much may be mankind's mistake!

EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

Answered By

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN

(Copyright 1930, New York Tribune.)

Questions from Lincoln Star readers are answered daily by The Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of the Federated Council of Churches of Christ in America. Dr. Cadman seeks to answer inquiries that appear to be representative of the trends of thought in the many letters which he receives.

QUESTION.

Pittston, Pa.

What is really meant by the grace of God?

ANSWER.

The phrase expresses a purely religious conception and involves the belief that God treats human beings with a loving tenderness and tender mercy they do not deserve. If He dealt with them on the basis of strict justice their repeated violation of His laws would forbid His forbearance. But experience shows that while God is forever opposed to sin, He is equally desirous for the transformation of the sinner.

Whence come those holy influences which prompt men to turn from their wickedness if not from the Father whose purpose it is to be reconciled to every one of us? Such influences emanate from His plan for the race. They are therefore rightly ascribed to His grace or favor, and the parable of the Prodigal Son illustrates their scope and strength.

The prodigal knew his father loved him in his degradation, and for the sake of his better self. The father received the prodigal with marvelous affection, doing for him what the wandering boy admitted he in nowise merited.

The elder brother made out a case for himself from the standpoint of bare justice, but he lacked the quality of grace. The difference lay in the nature of the two characters depicted. The father's love could do nothing less than forgive the offense the elder brother scorned. Jesus here showed that God goes far beyond our deserts in His solicitude for our redemption.

QUESTION.

New York City.

As a skeptic I dislike all your religions because they interfere with a man's freedom. Why should I or anybody else be compelled to obey the dictates of any priest or parson?

ANSWER.

Have you yet found any life which is without compulsions and plenty of them at that? If so, point it out. Much chatter about personal liberty reminds one of the clanking of fetters fastened on slaves who boast their freedom. Nothing in the universe is free in the sense in which you crave freedom. Winds and clouds, stars and planets obey a directing Mind. Their apparent freedom is based on an obedience without which they would vanish like a dream.

Severed from the inescapable obligations which every man faces, human society could not endure for a day. The noblest deeds are the offspring of the sternest imperatives. Duty is the voice of God and no matter how impossible it seems, the attempt to fulfill it develops character and morals. Men and women rise to the serene heights of endurance and sacrifice motivated by love's simple obligations. These they fulfil daily, and if you refuse to participate you become a social burden and may become a social outlaw.

Since you must obey, what will you obey? If "the dictates of priest or parson" truthfully present life's strong foundations, you neglect them at your peril. Hence your re-

HOW YOUTHFUL DOCTOR FOUND TUBERCULOSIS GERM.

Doctor Robert Koch was a young doctor in Germany established in general practice when the scientific world was aflame with the news that germs had been discovered as the cause of certain diseases. Only a few diseases were at first announced as being in this class — anthrax, a disease of sheep occasionally transmitted to man, being one of the first that Pasteur, the great French scientist, proved to be of this nature. But all the fevers and contagious diseases were suspected, and every doctor who had a microscope was trying to make a discovery.

Dr. Clendening

Young Doctor Koch was no exception. In spite of the fact that his wife kept nagging at him to build up a big practice, he began studying the exudates from sick people under the microscope. Finally he made a great discovery—the cause of the infection of wounds and of the infection of women after childbirth. Then he tackled tuberculosis, and in 1882 was able to announce that he had discovered the germ which causes it—the tubercle bacillus.

This was a great step in advance because doctors were then able to decide for the first time whether a disease was actually tuberculosis or not. Many thought certain bone diseases were of the same nature as consumption—tuberculosis of the lungs. Now they were able to prove it by demonstrating the tubercle bacillus in the scrapings from the diseased bone. Thus it became

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The Independence of Spots

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

The independent fearless fight
For that which they believe is right.
—Old Mother Nature.

Flip the Terrier had never expected to regard any on so much smaller than himself as he now regarded Spots, the Little Spotted Skunk whose acquaintance he had just made. It was hard to believe that such a little fellow could be so independent. "Excuse me, Spots, if I seem curious, but have you a little scent gun such as your big cousin, Jimmy Skunk, carries with him?" he inquired.

'Certainly," replied Spots. "All the members of the Skunk family carry those handy little scent guns."

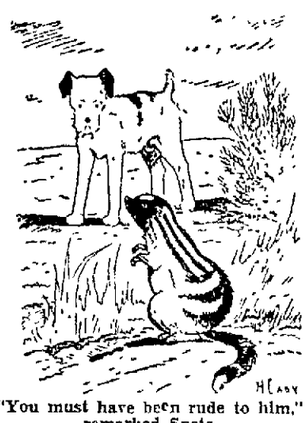

"I know Jimmy does," replied Flip ruefully. "He used it on me once, before I knew anything about him."

"You must have been rude to him," remarked Spots. "He would not have used it if you hadn't been."

"I was," replied Flip, "but I've treated him with the greatest respect ever since. You are such a little fellow that it is hard to believe you are as well armed as Jimmy is."

"Suppose I show you just how well armed I am," replied Spots mischievously, at the same time raising his tail a little.

"No, no! I'll take your word for it," cried Flip, hastily backing away still farther.

"You must have been rude to him," remarked Spots.

Spots grinned. "Don't be alarmed," said he. "I never use that little gun unless it is necessary, and I don't believe it is now."

"Indeed it isn't," replied Flip earnestly. "Indeed it isn't. You have nothing to fear from me."

Again Spots grinned. "I know

Careless lubrication is costly

Before you start any trip—even a little run of fifty miles—see that you have plenty of oil in the crankcase. Careless lubrication is costly.

If the oil is thin or dirty, drain and refill with the correct grade of thoroughly dewaxed, tar-free new POLARINE.

The new model motors wear out fast unless plenty of clean oil of the correct grade is used. The motor runs at higher speed, has higher compression and smaller clearances between piston and cylinder walls. Oil costs a lot less than repairs and the replacement of worn out parts.

Use new Polarine. No oil gives better lubrication or greater protection against wear. Consult the Chart for correct grade—25¢ a quart for all grades.

NEBRASKANS ARE USING MORE GAS

Receipts For First Seven Months of 1931 Show $223,656 Gain.

Gasoline tax receipts for the first seven months of 1931 exceed those of the same period last year by $223,656, an average monthly increase of nearly $32,000 over 1930. The total amount collected this year within the time mentioned was $5,105,781, compared with $4,882,125 a year ago.

In July alone the gain was more than $83,000, from $786,153 last year to $869,405 this year. June registered an increase almost as large, a little over $78,000. February, however, outstripped both the summer months with an increase of $86,000. March equalled the showing for June with $78,000 above its 1930 record.

For April and May, however, the revenue from gasoline tax dropped off considerably—$69,000 in the former month and $88,000 in the latter.

August is usually the biggest month of the year and will probably be so this time. There is no doubt that the income from gasoline tax in the whole year 1931 will exceed that of the preceding year by $300,000 or more.

Herewith are comparative figures from the books of State Treasurer Bass showing the collections for each month:

Month	1930	1931
January	$653,351 55	599,520.19
February	707,818.22	621,852 92
March	674,938 98	596,276.22
April	691,381.43	760,031.39
May	718,864 11	806,381 43
June	730,021.48	711,902.61
July	869,405.49	786,153.60
Totals	5,105,781.25	4,882,125.56

County Allotment for August.

From the net proceeds of July gas tax payments Treasurer Bass is distributing one-fourth to the various counties, as provided by law. The net total, after allowing for refunds to dealers and setting aside $1,250 for administration of the law, was $863,044. The counties will receive $215,761.

Lancaster's share is $15,742; that of Douglas, $28,091; Gage, $4,844; Scotts Bluff, $4,667; Dodge, $4,582; Hall, $4,422; Custer, $4,201; and other counties lesser amounts in proportion to their motor vehicles registration for 1930.

GERMAN BANKS ARE REOPENED; CALM PREVAILS

Preparations for Possible Runs by Depositors Prove Needless.

STATE CONTROL PLAN UNDECIDED

Supervision Similar to United States System May Be Adopted

BERLIN, Aug. 5—(AP)—Germany's banks, closed for more than three weeks as an emergency measure to stabilize the country's finances, reopened today for public business in an atmosphere of perfect calm.

Preparations made for possible runs by depositors proved needless and nowhere did withdrawals exceed the estimated volume. Hoarded money freely flowed into banks here and the same conditions prevailed in the provinces.

The form under which the government plans to place all banks under state control is not yet agreed upon, but it is assumed there will be supervision similar to that to which the trusts are subjected so that the government will be in a position at all times to gauge the financial situation as a whole.

To Take Preventive Measures.

In his radio speech last night Chancellor Bruening said the government had intervened in the cases of the big banks which were in difficulties because a multitude of the people depended on those banks. He disclaimed any intention to interfere with the legitimate liberty of action of the banking business, but said that once the state had been compelled to intervene it could not withdraw from the duty of taking preventive measures for the future.

This was interpreted as meaning that he has in mind something like the supervisory powers operating in the United States.

Extravagance Criticisms Met.

BERLIN, Aug. 5—(AP) — Vice Chancellor Hermann Dietrich, who also is finance minister, asserted today that every criticism of extravagance in the German budget made by S. Parker Gilbert, while he was agent-general for reparations payments, has been met in the budget for 1931.

"We have cut the budget to the bone," said Dr. Dietrich, "We have gone through every department with the pruning knife, and now we can say that the 1931 budget really is one of drastic economy.

"The 1930 budget, put into effect by emergency degree, provided for expenditures totalling 12,079,000.000 marks ($3,019,750,000) that for 1931, as passed by the reichstag and pruned by the government, calls for 1,542,000,000 marks (385,500,000) less, or a total of 10,537,000,000 marks ($2,634,250,000).

"This does not yet include savings made possible by the Hoover holiday, and it all shows how carefully we have gone about cutting expenses to the bone."

JEARY DEFENDS ZONING CHANGE

ises permits the use of the same for an extension of the industrial enterprise now operating on the west of these lots. The set-back of ten feet which is provided for in our recommendation will give more than sufficient space for a clear view from porches of houses lying to the east as ten feet is the maximum setback of any house in the block where the premises are located.

"It is common knowledge that the main line of the Missouri Pacific railroad company was located through the city of Lincoln over fifty years ago. It is also a recognized fact that necessarily industrial property must be located adjacent to or near railroad properties. If the city of Lincoln is to grow in population and wealth and its people supplied with employment, industries must be allowed to expand and new industries acquired. Due to the extension of the University of Nebraska, property to the north and physical objections to ground lying north of the Burlington railroad's rightofway, the expansion of industrial districts is confined to a limited area.

"In making our recommendation we have permitted the expansion of industrial territory with a minimum amount of inconvenience to other property owners, and without doing harm to the general plan and scheme of zoning as adopted by the original ordinance pertaining thereto.

"In connection with leaving the present restriction on the north ten feet of these lots, it is stated that originally we recommended a setback of twenty feet. Upon further examination we find that ten feet will accomplish the same purpose, and will give additional protection to other property owners in that it will permit the loading of coal inside the yard, whereas a twenty foot set-back would have required the opening of coal sheds and the loading of coal to the north."

DO-X STARTS ON FLIGHT TO U. S.

BAHIA, Brazil, Aug. 5—(INS)—The German seaplane DO-X arrived here at 4:05 p. m. today (1:05 p. m. C. S. T.), 9 hours and 35 minutes after leaving Rio de Janeiro on its leisurely flight to New York. The plane was to remain here overnight.

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 5—(AP)—The seaplane Do-X, on the way to New York with ten passengers, landed at Caravellas at 11:30 a. m. (8:30 a. m., C. S. T.) today. The next scheduled stop is Bahia, where she will remain over night.

HUNT ESCAPED CONVICT HERE

plying, Reger seized his shoes, and ran. Reger's clothes had been taken away from him by his guards, and were found where they had been placed. The porter said he was wearing a pair of light trousers and a shirt. Cook declares that the saw which Reger used and the clothing he wore when he escaped must have been furnished by accomplices.

Reported Seen West of Havelock.

Police and Reger's guards searched the railway yards without success. A report received at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday morning that a man answering Reger's description had been seen hiding beneath a bridge on North Twenty-seventh street west of Havelock was investigated without producing trace of the fugitive.

Reger's guards recounted two incidents that occurred during the ride from Chicago which they said pointed to the theory that the criminal had help in making his getaway. According to Cook two men who represented themselves as Denver detectives returning two prisoners to Colorado boarded the train, and hung around the federal prisoner conversing with his guards. Denver authorities are investigating that incident. Cook also said that a sheet which had been hung over the window of Reger's berth may have been a signal to his friends designating the Pullman car in which he was riding.

Hunt Woman Friend.

Federal authorities also are interested in ascertaining the whereabouts of the woman who unwillingly aided in Reger's capture at Charleston. Following his arrest, she drove his car to Denver, her home. Cook said that federal authorities at Charleston had received word from her reporting her arrival at Denver several days ago. Officers there say she has again disappeared.

Reger is 5 feet 10 or 11 inches tall, weighs about 200 pounds, has dark and heavy hair and eyebrows, and has a scar on the left side of his neck just below the ear. He was wearing gray trousers and a light shirt.

Rural garages are being notified in particular, since Reger is an automobile mechanic by trade, and may seek work.

Cook and Garten are remaining in Lincoln for a few days in hopes of regaining their prisoner. The train on which Reger was being taken to Denver arrived here at 1:10 and left at 1:30.

Wanted at North Platte.

OMAHA, Aug. 5—(AP)—Fred Reger, who escaped at Lincoln early today, is wanted at North Platte, Neb., on federal liquor charges, government officers said here today.

Reger was wanted for trial at North Platte on June 4 with Frank Iliff, officers said. Government agents and Omaha police were searching Omaha today in an effort to find a trace of Reger. Ed Swanson, Kimball county sheriff, was acquitted there on the same complaint.

Sought Bargain With Police.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 5—(AP) — Fred Reger, is particularly wanted by city and federal authorities here to assist in a contemplated investigation to ascertain if he had any inside aid in gaining his freedom from the Denver county jail last May 30.

At that time, Reger sawed his way out of a jail cell here, while under sentence by Juvenile court to serve from eight to ten years for a statutory offense against a 15-year-old girl. He also had been sentenced to a two-year federal prison term for a prohibition law violation.

Reger was traced to West Virginia through postcards which he sent a woman acquaintance while she was confined in a government reformatory. His arrest followed. Prior to his recapture, he sent police here a letter offering to surrender if the juvenile court sentence would be dropped.

ASKS TO INSTALL PAY STATIONS IN BUSINESS HOUSES

A request has been made to the state railway commission by the Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph Co. for permission to install semi-public pay stations, where 5 cents per call will be charged, in business establishments where the subscribers are willing to use them, on all its local exchanges. Such stations are now in service in Lincoln.

A special rate will be given the subscriber 50 cents per month below the regular business rate, and the maximum rental charge will be $4 per month for the station.

The Hamilton County Farmers Telephone association asks authority to charge a flat rate of $1.65 per quarter, in advance, for service between Doniphan and Grand Island, and 99 cents between Phillips and Grand Island, instead of collecting a specified amount for each call.

$1,226,300 CITY BUDGET AGREED; TAX LEVY SAME

ing at the municipal airport, more policemen, more firemen and for $10,000 with which to repair the paving on main streets leading into th city. To delay this paving repair, John Wright told the commissioners, will make it necessary to more than double the amount another year. His plea was without avail, however.

The city library request was reduced to $5,000, the council taking the stand that if increases asked by the fire and police were slashed "unmercifully" the library also would have to stand a reduction. The emergency fund was fixed at $17,500. From this money will come the funds with which to care for unemployment during the coming winter.

A new item in the budget is listed as "general unassigned." This fund has been set up to take care of overdrafts in paving and sewer district funds. It also will supply the money which the city has been compelled to pay as the result of court orders requiring reductions in the assessments for paving. For this purpose, $45,580, the amount asked, was allowed.

This amount is included in the general fund, which also includes sidewalks, emergency, election, printing, health, muny court. The appropriation will be $65,030, which is 90 per cent of the amount allowed, including the balances and estimated receipts.

The allowance for the health department, will be $22,450, plus $3,000 as its share of the cost of building the new garage on the west side of Marquet Square. For this same purpose the police department and the engineer's office will pay $3,500 each, which also is included as an extra item. The water and light department will pay the balance.

The fire department appropriation of $169,000 is a slight increase over a year ago. A considerable portion of this, however, will go to new equipment. An increase to the police will supply better protection to the suburbs, and possibly provide more traffic lights in the congested district.

While the council was providing the money for the new city building at Tenth and Q streets, and the street department shops at Nineteenth and Q streets, it made an allowance for additional janitor hire in the city property fund, and provided $6,000 for the purchase of furniture and fixtures.

John Wright's road fund was cut below his allowance a year ago. This, he declared, will make it necessary for him to do without a few pieces of new equipment which he had hoped to buy.

The new building at the airport will cost $25,000, that amount having been provided. It is to be a headquarters, and will house the offices, ladies rest room, a cafe and ticket office. It will be an airport depot, Manager Erickson said. Commissioner Bair asked $129,000 for the park department, and got $125,000. Last year he had $121,000 which was $8,000 under the figure of the previous year. The most of this will be used for labor, he declared.

In their discussion of the expenses of the attorney's office it was brought out that $1,500 had been included in the printing fund, for the pjublishing of the compiled ordinances. It also was revealed that there still is much work to do before the copy can be sent to the printer.

In making the levy for the new buildings, $22,500 was allowed, and $45,000 was allowed for the extension of storm sewers. These amounts were provided at an election last August.

Whether the new building for the airport will be started this fall has not been determined by City Engineer Erickson.

It was the belief after the conference that the budget will be approved next Monday, and the appropriation ordinance fixing the levies required to raise the funds for the several funds, enacted at the same time, on three readings.

The sums allowed a year ago, the amount requested for the coming year, and the total sums allowed this year follow:

ENDRES NOTIFIES GAS DEALERS OF PRICE SIGN LAW

Upon receipt of a complaint from an oil company that is complying with the new state law relative to the display of signs giving the price of gasoline in one set of figures, without specifying the amount of tax, that some of its competitors are not doing so, State Sheriff Endres announced Wednesday that he will issue in pamphlet form an opinion of the attorney general as to what this statute requires and will furnish copies thereof to all dealers and law enforcing officers throughout the state.

The attorney general has held that the price tag cannot lawfully show the amount of state tax paid, but that the words "including state tax" on a line below do not violate the law.

Highway Bids Will Be Opened Thursday

Bids on several additional highways projects will be received and opened by State Engineer Cochran and his assistants Thursday forenoon, and contracts awarded for the work. Among the road sections included in the letting are:

Hyannis-Whitman project, federal aid: 4½ miles of grading, with culverts and other incidentals.

Lemoyne-Arthur project, federal aid: 3.7 miles of gravel surfacing.

O'Neill-Bartlett project federal aid; 5.5 miles of graveled road construction: another section of same highway, 10.7 miles of earth road.

Ord-Burwell project, state road; 1.5 miles of sand graveling.

On the Wolbach-Fullerton project it has been decided to do the six miles of either road construction with state-owned machines, but a contract will be awarded for supplying the culvert pipe.

Two projects for oiled sand surfacing between Wood Lake and Valentine has been postponed until August 20.

DISTRESS DUE TO STUPIDITY

Sorensen Says Those Who Involved Us In War To Blame.

(Special to The Star.)

NEBRASKA CITY, Neb., Aug. 5—In an address before the Rotary club here Wednesday Attorney General C. A. Sorensen blamed the present depression upon industrial and political leaders and those who caused the country to enter the World war. He predicted that the coming winter would witness a great deal of suffering, and said that the alleviation of this must be the first concern of public officials. The address in part:

"For thousands of families this coming winter will be one of extreme hardship. Their cupboards are bare. No work is in sight. Mothers are spending sleepless nights wondering how they can get shoes and suitable clothing for the children who must go to school. The fathers are discouraged, hunting, hunting, for the job that doesn't exist.

"These children, mothers and fathers, are pathetic victims of an unnecessary breakdown of our industrial machinery. They are suffering because of the stupidity of our industrial and political leaders and of those who caused this country to become involved in the World war.

"If we have any religion we will insist as a nation, state, and community that these people be treated as our own kin in distress. It is a mere matter of luck that some of us are comfortably situated and others in want. A generation from now the table may be reversed, their children sitting around banquet tables like this and many of our children hitch-hiking across the country looking for jobs. They are fellow Americans and entitled to be treated as such.

"Under the laws of Nebraska the county boards are charged with the responsibility of furnishing food, clothing and shelter to the needy. Even though it means increased taxes, it is a responsibility that they should not dodge. The taxpayers of the community and the state should demand reduction of appropriations for all things that can wait, but not for milk needed to keep children alive. Hunger is a want that cannot be postponed."

FUNERAL SERVICE HELD DAVID CITY FOR A. L. HUGHES

(Special to The Star.)

DAVID CITY, Neb., Aug. 5—Funeral services were held here Wednesday afternoon for A. L. Hughes, prominent citizen of this city, who died at his home on Tuesday.

Alfred LeRoy Hughes was born on March 17, 1854, at Shreve, Ohio. He came to David City in 1880, and had been an active lawyer and abstracter ever since that time. He was a member of St. Lukes M. E. church, having been financial secretary of the church board for years, holding that office during the erection of two churches. He led the church choir for 35 years. He was made treasurer of the David City Cemetery association in 1914 and held that office when he died.

Mr. Hughes was married twice. His first wife died in 1908. On June 12, 1912, he was united in marriage to Miss Alice Cary Couffer at the Metropolitan Memorial M. E. church Washington, D. C.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge, the Knights of Pythias, and the Eastern Star, and was a Spanish American War veteran.

Funeral services were in charge of the Masonic lodge and conducted by Rev. W. C. Kelley of David City, Rev. A. D. Burress of Omaha and Rev. J. R. Gettys of Omaha.

He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Edith of Beatrice, and Mrs. Earl Powell of Lincoln; also a sister, Mrs. Clara Lang of Boston.

TELL OF USING NATURAL GAS

Witnesses From Lincoln and Elsewhere at Hastings Trial.

HASTINGS, Neb., Aug. 5—(AP)—The merits of natural gas in place of artificial gas for commercial as well as domestic purposes, were related here today as the Hastings controversy over turning natural gas into the mains was resumed before Federal Judge J. W. Woodrough.

The Central Power company of Grand Island, plaintiff in the action, seeks to permanently enjoin Hastings city officials from interfering with the turning of natural gas into the mains. It is now available in pipelines up to the city limits.

Witnesses today included C. R. Brock of Salina, Kas., gas line superintendent, who told of the reserve supply. One of the contentions of the Hastings people has been the purported unreliability of the natural fuel.

George Blackstone, Lincoln, told of satisfactorily using natural gas there in the manufacture of brick, while Robert Graham, manager of the York plant, testified as to increased use of gas since that city changed from artificial to natural.

C. E. Hazelrigs, engineer at Ingleside, state insane hospital here, revealed for the first time that natural gas is used at the institution, and that it had been satisfactory and more economical than coal.

Mayor William Madgett of Hastings, the first witness called for the city, testified as to the ordinances, while City Clerk A. T. Bratton, next called, introduced records of council action in the natural gas controversy.

It seemed doubtful at noon that the case would be closed today.

"Pershing's Own Band Plays Here September 17

"Pershing's Own," the United States Army band, founded by Gen. John J. Pershing, will offer two concerts in Lincoln at Epworth Park auditorium September 17 under the auspices of the Nebraska Epworth assembly. It will be the band's first appearance in Nebraska.

Plans are being made by the assembly management to care for 5,000 people at the affair. W. Edgar Gates, president of the assembly, Dr. F. F. Travis, superintendent of the Lincoln district of the Methodist church, and Dr. M. E. Gilbert, financial secretary of Nebraska Wesleyan university, negotiated with Jerry Johnson, advance representative of the band who spent several days here last week making a survey.

The band has a personnel of 41 musicians under the leadership of Capt. William J. Stannard and is stationed at the war college at Washington, D. C.

The tour to be made this season will open in Pennsylvania and cover all the states on the Northern Pacific railroad from Minneapolis to the Pacific coast, returning via Arizona, New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri, closing the tour at St. Louis.

The army band has been declared the official band for the introduction of Latin-American music into this country by the Pan-American union. The Army band represented the United States musically at the Ibero-American exposition at Seville, Spain.

Its programs have a wide appeal and are balanced to meet the popular taste. In addition to its ensemble it carries a large number of outstanding soloists. The matinee will be devoted to students of the schools and Captain Stannard is arranging a program which will suit the taste of the grade school, the junior high, the high school and the college students for the afternoon appearance.

LINDY AND WIFE MAKE 1,115-MILE HOP TO AKLAVIK

of white folk who had been waiting all night for the arrival of the flying couple.

Colonel Lindbergh was all smiles as he climbed from his place at the controls and assisted his wife from the plane after its nose had been drawn up on the muddy shore. The hazardous 1,100 mile hop across the most treacherous and almost uninhabited country on the continent had been made in eleven and one-half hours.

Fly Through Short Night.

The murky twilight of Aklavik's "darkness" had just given way to the Arctic circle dawn as the holidaying Lindberghs made their landing. They had flown throughout the short night in the Land of the Midnight Sun, tracing their route along the upper rim of Canada's mainland in a straight-line flight from Baker Lake, off the west shore of Hudson bay.

Never before had the Northwest Territories been spanned in a single jump, even by the fearless northland fliers whose livelihood is made in flying over the lake-dotted tundra country. The takeoff was made at 5:35, C. S. T., last night, after the outside world had come to the conclusion that the Lindberghs would spend a second night at Baker Lake.

A Daring Flight.

Along the edge of the Arctic circle the daring flight of the trim plane had been directed, but not a word of the progress of the top-of-the-world dash was received by radio stations listening eagerly in the north. Aklavik lies 130 miles within the Arctic circle, while Baker Lake is a similar distance outside.

At Aklavik, the Lindberghs have completed more than 3,000 miles of their 7,000-mile tour from New York to Tokyo. They have completed five hops in as many days, resting overnight after each jump. While the Lindberghs appeared fresh after their long flight, it seemed certain they would rest here overnight before pressing on to Alaska.

Success came to Lindbergh on his dash over the shoulder of the world despite admonitions from veteran northern airmen that a direct hop from Baker Lake to Aklavik was courting disaster.

Northland Caught in Fog.

SEATTLE, Aug. 5—(AP)—Blanketed by a dense fog twenty-four miles west of Icy Cape on the Arctic shore the United States coast guard cutter Northland, carrying fuel for Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh on their vacation trip to the Orient, today abandoned any hope of reaching Point Barrow in time to meet the fliers.

Coast guard headquarters here were advised by the Northland that the fog, continuous for several days, prevents the vessel from finding a way through the ice off Blossom Shoals. Point Barrow is about 150 miles north of the cape.

Should the Lindberghs arrive before the Northland reaches Wainwright, about forty miles north of Icy Cape, the coast guardsmen plan to hand over the fuel in the vicinity of the cape or in a lagoon, depending up weather conditions.

"It will be impossible for the vessel to reach Point Barrow until we have several days off-short wind," the message received here said. The wind would open a lane in the ice through which the cutter might find her way to her destination.

WARRANT AGAINST TWO ASHLAND MEN

Complaint Made Pair Operating Radio Station Without Federal License.

Warrants were issued Wednesday by U. S. Commissioner Whitmore naming Edwin Miles and Joy P. Miller, who are alleged to be operating a radio station at Ashland without a license. A U. S. department of commerce representative who conferred with Assistant U. S. District Attorney Van Pelt said that this is the second prosecution of this kind in the United States.

According to the federal agent, complaint against the station, which called itself KMRS, had been made by citizens of Ashland.

The complaint alleges that a program from the station was heard at a schoolhouse near Pacific Junction, Ia., and that neither

Hall Flies to Chicago From New York in 4 Hours and 17 Minutes

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—(AP)—James Goodwin Hall, New York flier, was winging eastward today in an effort to set a non-stop speed record from Chicago to New York, flying from New York here in 4 hours, 17 minutes this morning.

He took off for New York at 11:11 a. m., Chicago daylight saving time, after arriving here from Roosevelt Field, N. Y., at 9:35 a. m., Chicago daylight saving time.

Hall was groggy from gasoline fumes as he stepped fromg the plane and collapsed for a few seconds.

Attaches at the municipal airport where Hall landed said they knew of no previous non-stop flight between Roosevelt field and Chicago, although tfansport planes have made the flight in little more than four hours.

EDISON NOT YET OUT OF DANGER

Held to Life Only by Frayed Strands of Health, Says Doctor.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 5—(AP)—Thomas A. Edison is held to life only by frayed strands of health, Dr. Hubert S. Howe told reporters today.

He said although the 84-year-old inventor had showed marked and rapid improvement, he was "not yet out of immediate anger."

"His condition is like the fraying out of an elevator rope," Dr. Howe said. "The elevator functions until the last strand breaks. The outside looks all right. All that is left for the engineer to do is to protect the last few strands."

The physician said Edison had a chance "of coming out of this and living for some time."

In the earier stages of his illness, Dr. Howe said, the inventor had been unwilling to take any medicine until he had read all about it and studied its chemical reactions. But he had been so sick, the doctor added, that he was willing now to take the medicine first and read of its efects afterward.

Patient Much Stronger.

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 5—(AP)—Thomas Alva Edison, feeling much better and stronger today, directed his interest to studying the chemical actions of his medicine as a next best substitute for work, which his physician has forbidden for the time being.

His recuperative powers over the past forty-eight hours, amazing for a man of 84 years, Dr. Howe said, meant that his improvement "of necessity will be slower from now on."

For the first time since his collapse Saturday, the inventor was able yesterday to go for an automobile ride, accompanied by Mrs. Edison and their son, Charles. He was carried to his room by three chauffeurs on their return.

upon its value at the time of making the assessment."

Officials of all counties having pipe lines were duly notified and given a chance to present their views before the state board, Marsh declared, but only a few of them did so. The clerk of Gage county, now joining with Sorensen in his appeal, was present at the hearing but made no protest, the secretary of state says.

As compared with the 17 per cent reduction allowed pipe lines below their cost of construction, Marsh points out that the total assessed value of personal property this year has decreased $48,456,000; real estate, $7,471,000; class A intangibles, $24,158,000; and class B intangibles, $11,934,000.

Sorensen Appeal.

The Sorensen appeal petition, in which Gage, Dakota, and Saline counties join, asserts that the 17 per cent cut on pipe lines was made without due notice to the counties or holding a hearing thereon, and without proper or sufficient evidence to justify such action. The board should have done nothing more than to equalize the differences in pipe line assessments as between different counties, the at-

HOLDUP KILLS SOCIETY GIRL

Negro Wounds 2 Other Young Alabama Women Who Try Escape.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 5—(AP) — Civilian possemen today joined city and county officers in a hunt for a negro who last night killed Miss Augusta Williams, society girl, and wounded her two girl companions after keeping them captive four hours following a highway holdup.

Miss Nell Williams, sister of the slain girl, was shot in the spine and hospital attendants called her condition grave. Miss Jennie Wood, a friend, received a bullet in her right arm. The three were shot when they tried to escape from their captor.

Miss Williams told officers the three girls were driving along the highway about three miles from a fashionable Birmingham residential section when a negro leaped on the running board of their car covering them with a pistol.

Captor Gets "Fresh."

They were forced to drive into a wooded section about 100 yards off the highway. There the negro took their money from them but refused to permit them to leave, she said. The girls decided to make an attempt to escape when the negro got "fresh," Miss Williams said.

Despite her wound she was able to make her way to the nearest home, about three miles distant, to sound the alarm. A search for the assailant was begun, and the three girls were taken to a hospital where Miss Augusta Williams died a short time later.

The three girls were prominent in Birmingham society. The Williams girls are daughters of Clark Williams, attorney.

toward new objectives. The governor's orders are to close all of the state's 3,106 wells that have a daily average production of twenty-five barrels or more.

The troops, under Adjutant Gen. Charles F. Barrett and newly-commissioned Lieut. Col. Cicero I. Murray, the governor's cousin, prepared to go to the greater Seminole area today.

Many To Be Jobless.

From that point the movement will spread to others of the twenty-seven flush production oil pools affected by the executive order. Published reports were that more than 7,500 persons would be left jobless by the closing of the wells.

The order, coming at the end of several days of impatient waiting by independent operators suffering from low crude prices, decreed that each well should remain closed until purchasers agreed to pa a minimum of $1 per barrel at the wells. Fifty cents was the top yesterday.

At Oklahoma City the shutdown of nearly 800 wells was completed less than four hours after the troops moved in. Stripper wells and gassers furnishing fuel for drilling wells, were exempted.

Ask Written Orders.

Sinclair oil employes, against which company the governor aimed fiery remarks in his executive order, asked guardsmen for written orders to close, but withdrew quickly when they saw Colonel Murray was not planning to arbitrate.

Governor Murray had accused the Sinclair Oil & Gas Co. and "their associates" of "judicial juggling through injunction."

He asserted their combined operations caused low prices for crude to increase their profits while ruining smaller independent firms without such complete industrial facilities.

Reasons For Action.

Going deeply into Oklahoma law, the chief executive used nearly 3,000 words in drafting his order. The principal points argued as reasons for the shutdown were:

1. Protection of school children of the state. (Oil on school land produces a considerable part of the state's revenue).

2. Conservation of the state's natural resources.

1931 Nebraska Wheat Crop Has Less Smut--Farm Topics

SMUT SURVEY IS MADE BY GROSS IN 4 COUNTIES

Believes Decrease Due Fact More Farmers Treating Seed.

Omaha Market Reports, However, Show Fight Is Unfinished.

The 1931 Nebraska wheat crop contains less smut than that of a year ago, a survey recently completed in four Nebraska counties by the college of agriculture indicates. The survey was made in Cheyenne, Saunders, Phelps and Perkins counties.

D. L. Gross, extension agronomist, indicated this morning that the decreased amount of smut is due to the fact that more Nebraska farmers treated their seed before planting the past year. Wherever an increased number of farmers treated their seed a decreased amount of smut was found.

Actual grading figures from the Omaha market showed that the per cent of cars of wheat grading smutty on the market was around 40 per cent which was greater than any other state, according to Gross. This, he says, represented a great financial loss in selling price and in reduced yield in the field.

Carelessness About Seed.

Nebraska farmers are sometimes too careless and do not treat their seed wheat because of the fact that local elevators do not for the most part dock smutty wheat. The smutty wheat and the clean wheat are mixed together and the smut contaminates the clean wheat and makes it grade smutty on the terminal market, Gross explains. He says many of the elevators level their price and pay more or less of a flat price on the market so that the farmers suffer some price reduction.

The survey shows that in Cheyenne county only 15 per cent of the farmers had sufficient smut in their fields to cause the wheat to grade smutty on reaching the market. Gross says that these 15 per cent who deliver smutty wheat to the local elevator are probably responsible for 75 per cent or more of the wheat leaving the elevator grading smutty.

Most Farmers Treat.

Not all of the 85 per cent, however, who had clean wheat treated their seed when planting. A total of 70 per cent of the farmers interviewed in the survey treated their wheat while 30 per cent did not use seed treatment. However, none of the farmers who treated their seed properly had enough smut in the wheat to cause it to grade smutty on the market.

Two-thirds of the farmers treating their seed in Cheyenne county did so with the copper carbonate treatment as recommended by the college of agriculture. The other one-third used the formaldehyde method. Where the growers had treated their seed for a number of years, not a trace of smut was found in the wheat fields. Gross says this strongly indicates what seed treatment over a period of years will accomplish.

Takes Several Years.

"Farmers who treat their seed one year and then fail to do so the next few years cannot expect to eliminate the smut in their wheat," Gross declares. "It takes a few years to wipe out the smut in the seed."

In most cases in Cheyenne county it was found that a homemade mixer or a common cement mixer were being use for treating the seed. Both represent little, if any additional expense to the average farmer with the exception of the copper carbonate used in treating the seed.

Though the survey in Perkins county was not as detailed as in Cheyenne, it showed that only twelve fields out of fifty-three showed a trace of smut. Since last year over 50 per cent of the wheat in Perkins county graded smutty on the terminal markets, Gross points out that either the smut is much less this year or that the 6 per cent of smutty fields contaminates over 50 per cent of the crop in the local elevators.

Worse in Phelps.

The smut situation in wheat in Phelps county was much worse this year than in either Cheyenne or Perkins counties, according to the survey. Nearly one-fourth of the fields carried enough smut to cause the wheat to grade smutty. One field was found which had 25 per cent smut while 8 per cent of the fields had over 5 per cent smut.

A lower percentage of the Phelps county farmers treated their seed than in Cheyenne county. Gross says this no doubt accounts in part for the greater smut loss in Phelps county. Seasonal differences, however, at planting time are the main reasons for the greater loss this year.

In Saunders county very little smut was found. The survey shows that 93 per cent of the farmers had no smut at all in their wheat and only 4 per cent had enough smut to cause their wheat to grade smutty on the market.

Dairy Club Members Reminded Get Their Calves All Groomed

With less than a month until county and state fair time, E. C. Scheidenhelm of the agricultural college today reminded Nebraska dairy 4-H club members that they should be grooming their calves for showing. Most county fairs start late this month while the state fair opens September 4.

One of the first things the club members should accomplish before fair time is the ability to lead their calves, according to Scheidenhelm. The calf should be easy to handle if the boys and girls expect to win prizes in the show ring, he avers.

Now is a good time to start washing the calves if the 4-H clubbers haven't already done so, the college of agriculture man says. In addition the horns might be polished up some by use of sand paper and a little olive oil.

This year there are 891 Nebraska boys and girls enrolled in the dairy project.

Williams New Agent In Madison County

J. H. WILLIAMS.

J. H. Williams has been elected county extension agent in Madison county to succeed R. A. Stewart, according to an announcement made from the extension service at the agricultural college today. Stewart recently resigned. Williams took up his duties on August 1.

The newly elected county agent was born in Kentucky. He is now 38 years old. He has farmed for five years, been superintendent of schools for five years, and taught school for 7 years. He was superintendent of schools and agriculture instructor in the Barneston schools last year.

Grasshoppers Are Getting Worse in Saunders County

WAHOO, Aug. 5—Grasshoppers apparently are on the increase in Saunders county jjudging from reports coming in from investigations made by County Agent R. N. Hauser. He says the Utan, Mead, Ithaca, Memphis, Ashland and Ceresco district seem to be the hardest hit.

Since most of the small grains have been harvested and the hay crop removed, the hoppers are moving into the cornfields here. In most instances they are confined to the outer rows but in a few cases have gone further into the fields.

CLAIM ATTEMPT DEPRESS SALES

President of Nebraska Livestock Society Wires Hoover.

Objects Health Board Advising No Summer Meat Eating.

In a wire recently sent to President Hoover, Chairman Stone of the farm board, the United States health board and Secretary Hyde, Dan Hildebrandt of Seward protested the action of the U. S. health board in "attempting to depress meat sales over the country." The contents of the wire were made public today at the agricultural college.

Early in June the health board put out some summer suggestions among which included the advice to not eat meat. Immediately sensing the danger of the propaganda to the livestock industry, Hildebrandt, who is president of the Nebraska Improved Livestock Breeders' association, sent the wire.

Hildebrandt said the statement about not eating meat is unjustified and works a hardship on livestock producers throughout the United States. He says there is no food as healthful as meat.

Producers Suffering Losses.

With low livestock prices, the Seward man says producers are suffering severe losses on account of the depression and under consumption. He says all government agencies should be helping in such times instead of depressing the poor livestock market. Hildebrandt further denounces the action of the health board by saying that one agency of the government tries to help agriculture and livestock producers and another one comes along and proceeds to try to tear down what has already been accomplished.

Prof. H. J. Gramlich of the agricultural college today voiced his approval of Hildebrandt's action. He said livestock productions constitutes one of Nebraska's most important industries and the products produced by livestock are clean and healthy.

The college of agriculture professor quotes figures from federal and state statistics to show that livestock is important in Nebraska. The figures show that the value of livestock and livestock products marketed in 1930 amounted to $329,955,997 while all crops sold for cash in the same year amounted to but $133,803,560. Hence he points out that 71 per cent of the Nebraska agricultural income is derived from animals and their products.

HAYSEED -- and -- HAYWIRE

By GEORGE ROUND

It isn't often that movie stars serve as namesakes for farm animals but for one Culbertson, Nebraska, dairymen they have served the purpose well. He has a herd of eleven grade Holsteins, each being named after some great actress.

This farmer is proud of his movie star herd. For instance last year they averaged 321.7 pounds of butterfat and produced a profit. A cow known as Bebe Daniels evidently is the pet of the herd for she made the most money last year. Then another grade Holstein known as Bessie Love ate the most grain while a cow nicknamed Clara Bow produced the smallest amount of butterfat.

Nebraska Bests Nation.

Nebraska farmers can well be proud of the fact that the average milk production per cow for Nebraska has been greater than the similar average in the United States for the past seven years. Butterfat production in the past two years has also exceeded the national average.

These ratings indicate the change dairy herd improvement associations have been able to bring about in dairying in Nebraska. Starting with but four associations a few years ago there are now nearly thirty associations in the state. It is through these organizations that Nebraska dairymen have been able to increase their milk and butterfat production.

About Honey Production.

The fact that the 1931 honey crop probably will be but one-half or more under normal indicates that the wheat farmer isn't the only one suffering in the state. Statistics show that there are nearly 30,000 stands of bees in the state which indicates that the industry is growing.

Poor weather conditions have been greatly responsible for the decreased production. At least there should be no over production of honey in Nebraska this year.

Cheap Feeder Steers.

It begins to look as though Nebraska farmers with a little money and some feed have the opportunity of picking up feeder cattle cheap now for winter roughing or "warming up." With the range country to the west dry, the markets are glutted with light feeder steers which can be bought for under seven cents.

Grasshoppers Bad Publicity.

Wayland Magee, former Nebraska farmer but now with the federal reserve banking system, in writing to Prof. H. J. Gramlich of the agricultural college about the grasshopper situation says many newspapers have been "calling the wolf when there is no wolf."

The banker says the eastern papers are full of unfriendly stories about the ravage of grasshoppers in Nebraska. While Mr. Magee says he does know that in individual cases the hoppers are doing great damage, yet, he says, to the group as a whole the inroad is not at all in proportion to the damage the publicity is doing Nebraska.

Seeding Rye Early.

Seeding of rye for early pasture for livestock is rapidly finding favor among Nebraska farmers. At the agricultural college the rye is planted sometimes as early as August 15. Early seeding allows a chance of getting fall pasture for the pigs as well as early spring pasture for cattle.

Rye is seeded at the rate of a bushel and one-half to two bushels per acre at the college. It stools quite freely. The rye is pastured heavily until the first of June when it is plowed under and seeded to sudan grass.

"Fighting" Horses.

W. B. Hurtya of Ravenna, Nebraska, says horses can fight. After engaging in a one-round bout with one of his farm horses, he has come to the conclusion that the "nags" apply their knockout punches in a hurry.

Just recently Hurtya was preparing to haul some corn with his team and wagon when he noted the neckyoke was out of order. He climbed down from the wagon to straighten it and Mr. Horse nipped a chunk out of his right ear. Thinking this meant that the first round had started, Hurtya sent two healthy uppercuts to the horses' jaw when he saw that the animal's mouth was wide open. All of this didn't hurt the horse but gave the man a swelled finger and the imprint of a tooth on his hand.

Stresses Need Shade, Water For Chickens

Redditt Reminds Poultrymen That Birds Will Do Nothing Unless Given Proper Attention.

Chickens should have plenty of shade and cool water available during the dry hot weather, according to J. R. Redditt, poultry extension specialist at the agricultural college.

Redditt says chickens will not do anything unless they have access to the water and shade. In addition they should be receiving complete rations or else the chickens will be handicapped.

The college of agriculture man suggests that poultrymen keep the mash before the chickens at all times. It can be kept in a hopper. At the present time Nebraska poultrymen can mix their own mash for slightly over one cent a pound. They can feed a hen for about six cents a month under present conditions.

At the present time egg production usually falls off, Redditt says. The standard for hens during August is nine eggs and for pullets is twelve eggs. With present mash prices, Redditt believes Nebraska poultrymen can still make money on their operations.

As in previous months Redditt urges poultrymen to continue practice culling their farm flocks. He says, however, that culling is no substitute for correct feeding. A combination of the two is the ideal situation, he points out.

BOY IS INJURED.

WEST POINT, Neb., Aug. 5—Running into a barbed wire fence while at play Sunday, Arthur Reeson, 10, struck the fence with sufficient force to severely lacerate his throat. Nine stitches were required to close the wounds.

GRAIN IS BEING FED TO CATTLE

Herd Associations Keep Stock In Shape As Pastures Dry Up.

With most Nebraska pastures dried up, many dairy herd improvement association members and other dairymen are finding it necessary to feed grain to their cows, according to E. C. Scheidenhelm of the agricultural college.

The dry hot weather has caused most dairymen to start feeding grain earlier than usual. In most sections of the state brome grass or sudan grass are the only pasture grasses available for cattle.

"If dairymen expect their cows to continue butterfat production in a normal fashion, they must feed some grain under present circumstances," declares Scheidenhelm. "Conditions have been adverse for pasturage this summer."

Scheidenhelm, who is an extension dairyman at the college of agriculture, suggests that Nebraska dairymen feed some wheat in their rations. Under present price conditions, he believes it is cheaper to feed rather than corn. Some dairymen who have used wheat, however, say that it tends to slow up the milk production. Nevertheless the college of agriculture specialist says a ration made up of one-fourth or one-third wheat will not hurt the cows.

Suggests Ration.

A mixture consisting of 300 pounds ground barley or corn along with 100 pounds of either cottonseed or linseed meal is suggested for dairymen. Another ration includes 500 pounds ground corn or barley, 500 pounds oats and 100 pounds of either cottonseed or linseed meal.

The more milk a cow produces the more grain she should be fed now, Scheidenhelm maintains. Jerseys and Guernseys producing up to 20 pounds of milk should receive one pound of grain for every 7 pounds of milk while those producing from 30 to 35 pounds should get one pound of grain for each 4½ pounds of milk.

Holsteins, Ayrshire and other cattle require about the same amount of grain for each pound of milk produced. Those giving 25 to 30 pounds of milk are to receive one pound of grain for every 7 pounds of milk while those producing over 40 pounds of milk should get one pound of grain for every 5 pounds of milk.

PREFERS BUYING CREAM BY GRADE

Manager Ord Creamery Tries New Plan With Marked Success.

ORD, Aug. 5—After buying cream on the grade for four weeks, Manager Fred Coe of the Ord Co-operative creamery today expressed himself as being pleased with the results. The Ord creamery is the only independent cooperative in the state buying cream by the grade at the present time. Manager Coe believes it will become permanent.

Before the Ord creamery started grading cream, they were receiving from 20 to 25 per cent second grade cream. Realizing the benefits of buying cream by grade, Manager Coe changed. The second grade cream being purchased now by the creamery is but 10 to 12 per cent, even during the extreme hot weather.

When the state price for butterfat was but 16 cents in Ord recently, the co-operative creamery paid 21 cents for No. 1 grade cream and 18 cents for No. 2 grade cream. Yet Manager Coe declares enthusiastically that the creamery is making a profit. He explains it by saying that he is getting about 90 per cent fine butterfat.

Working Benefit Patrons.

"We will probably lose a few customers because buying cream by grade is still in the experimental stage. We believe it is going to be permanent. By working with our patrons, we hope that we will soon be getting 95 per cent No. 1 grade cream. This will work to the benefit of our stockholder patrons," Manager Coe declares.

The grading of cream does not mean more salary for any employe of the creamery but enables the Ord institution to produce better butter. Customers of the creamery have added cooling tanks to their dairy equipment on their farms lately and are caring for their cream. By personal contact and local advertising, Manager Coe has been able to show most patrons how grade buying is going to benefit them.

The Ord creamery is reputed to be the largest independent cooperative in Nebraska. Last year they produced 445,000 pounds of butter.

Judging Scenes Tuesday At Agricultural College

Three hundred boys and girls took part in the eastern Nebraska 4-H judging day contest held Tuesday afternoon at the college of agriculture. In the upper picture are shown some of the 100 girls who judged clothing and articles in the girls' room contest. In the picture below Ed Janike, assistant state extension agent in animal husbandry, is showing a large group of the boys how to judge sheep.

TREE LOSSES AT CRETE PUZZLING

Foresters Unable Say What Disease Took Block of Elms.

Plant pathologists and foresters at the agricultural college are puzzled at an apparent disease which has killed a number of elm trees in Crete. Eleven trees out of fourteen in one planting are dead and two others are dying.

Mayor F. J. Kobes first notified Clayton Watkins, extension forester at the college, of the plight of the trees. After making a trip to Crete and examining the trees, Watkins admitted it was something new to him. Plant pathologists were then taken to Crete and returned with specimens of the trees.

Dr. R. G. Goss, plant pathologist at the college, is making a study of the culture of the dead trees. Another sample has been sent to Washington for similar study. The killing seems to be confined to one block although Watkins reported this morning that it is spreading. Apparently some organism is causing the damage. The trees in the planting are about 60 years old.

Dead trees examined at the planting indicate that the roots and all parts of the plant are dead. The branches appear discolored and diseased. Unlike other diseases, the malady seems to attack the tree from the top and works downward.

"Within ten days or so we hope to be able to definitely identify the organism that is attacking the trees in Crete," Watkins declared this morning. "Lincoln people, however, should not be alarmed about the elms dying. Trees dying in the city have not been attacked as those in Crete."

Nebraska's Honey Crop Cut Nearly Half This Season

Nebraska's 1931 honey crop will be one-half to two-thirds normal, according to O. S. Bare, extension entomologist at the agricultural college. Poor weather conditions have cut the crop as they are threatening the corn crop for the year.

Bare returned to Lincoln Monday from out in the state where he conducted bee demonstrations for beekeepers associations. He is continuing the work again this week.

Early freezes and abnormal hot weather cut the food supply for the bees down considerably and is playing a big part in reducing the year's crop. Some beekeepers over the state have been forced to feed their bees in an attempt to get a normal honey crop.

In his August demonstrations, Bare is stressing the value of building up the colonies for winter. He is also demonstrating the value of requeening the colonies. He says the addition of a new queen tends to cause the colony to produce more honey and makes new brood. Most good beekeepers over the state requeen every two years. Bare, however, believes it pays to requeen each year.

SAFETY BULL PEN DEMONSTRATIONS NOW BEING HELD

The qualities of a safety bull pen are being demonstrated to Nebraska dairymen this week and next by M. L. Flack and Ivan D. Wood of the agricultural college. The first demonstration was held on the Alfred Buschow farm near Blue Hill.

Flack told the cow testing association members, creamerymen and dairymen that a safety bull pen is necessity upon the dairy farm. The pen had already been constructed on the Buschow farm and Wood explained the detailed structure of it to the dairymen gathered at the demonstration.

Friday Wood and Flack are holding a similar demonstration on the Charles Kearney farm near Morrill. Saturday a demonstration will be held on the Lee Heizer farm at Chadron. The next demonstration will be held in Sarpy county on August 12 and at the Bill Petersen farm at Oakland on August 13. Another demonstration is scheduled for August 14 at Leigh while Lancaster county dairymen will attend a similar meeting at Guy Talbot's farm near Lincoln on August 19.

Second Series Of Judging Days Are Now In Full Swing

The second series of district 4-H club judging days started at the agricultural college Tuesday when several hundred boys and girls from eastern Nebraska gathered for judging competition. Judging days are to be held in nine different Nebraska cities.

Club members practiced on all eight classes of club work at the college Tuesday. Club workers and extension specialists conducted the judging work for the boys and girls as they will do at the other judging schools.

Friday the second district judging day of the series will be held at North Platte. The club members will judge everything but poultry there. Saturday the third judging day is held at McCook where the club members judge everything. The next school is held at Bridgeport on Monday, August 10. Two schools are held at Chadron and Kearney on Tuesday, August 11, while two are also held on Wednesday, August 12, at Sidney and Norfolk. The last school is held at Clay Center on Thursday, August 13.

Numerous competitive events including a baseball game, foot races, swimming and diving contests and horse shoe pitching will be put on. Among the speakers are W. H. U. S. Steel Cuts Pay Of Salaried Employes

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—(AP)—Reductions ranging from 10 to 15 per cent, effective August 15, have been made by the United States Steel corporation in the pay of all salaried employes.

The action carries out a recommendation made by the board of directors at its meeting last week. A statement issued at the close of the meeting said the board recommended an adjustment of salaries of all officers and other salaried employes be made in varying percentages, depending upon the character of the service rendered.

Wages were unaffected by the reduction.

HARVEY BACK IN PRISON.

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga., Aug. 5—(AP)—Leland Harvey, Georgia bandit with a record of seven escapes was back at the state prison farm today and with him was Richard Rowland, a companion in the July 15 break made by ten prisoners. The two men were returned early today by motor from Chicago where the Illinois authorities had arrested them on a charge of attempting to kidnap and rob R. E. Williams, a salesman.

THREE BANKS IN N. Y. ARE CLOSED

Action Taken Due Drop In Assets; Deposits Of 15 Millions.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—(AP)—Joseph A. Broderick, superintendent of banks, closed three banks and a safe deposit company in New York City today because each of them had experienced a depreciation in the value of its assets.

The banks taken over were the American Union bank, the International - Madison Bank & Trust Co., the Times Square Trust Co., and its affiliate, the Times Square Safe Deposit Co.

The deposit liabilities of the three banks, taken as of the close of business on August 1, total approximately $15,000,000.

In a short announcement, Broderick stated that "because of the non-liquid condition and depreciation of the banks' assets it is deemed unsafe and inexpedient to permit the institutions to continue in business."

Liquidation of the banks will be commenced at once and the banking department expects dividends will be paid in each case in about ninety days.

The deposit liabilities of the American Union bank were found to be $7,094,000, the International - Madison bank $6,811,000 and the Times Square Trust Co., $1,438,000.

No mention was made of the financial status of the Times Square Safe Deposit Co.

SOUTH FOR CUT IN COTTON ACREAGE

Conferees Favor Laws to Enforce Production Drop; To Seek New Outlets for Crop.

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 5—(AP)—The south's cotton crop conservation conferees were enroute home today, most of them determined to set in immediate motion a movement that is aimed to bring about the passage of laws to curtail production.

The two-day southwide cotton conference called by Governor Ross S. Sterling of Texas ended late yesterday.

The leaders likewise rededicated themselves to their work of finding new outlets for the south's main crop. A campaign of advertising the possible uses of cotton was suggested by T. Arthur Edwards of Lake Charles, La., personal representative of the goveernor of Louisiana.

A resolution putting the group on record as favoring laws to enforce cotton acreage reduction was adopted. Another resolution appealed to the federal farm board to make one of its objectives the finding of more markets.

FLIERS TO TRY PACIFIC JUMP

Pangborn and Herndon to Attempt Tokyo to Seattle Flight.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—(AP)—The Pangborn-Herndon around the world flight headquarters here received a cable today from Hugh Herndon, jr. in Khabarovsk, Siberia, definitely announcing an attempt would be made to fly non-stop from Tokyo to Seattle.

"Will attempt non-stop Tokyo - Seattle flight," the cable read. "Will have extra tank built in Tokyo."

When Pangborn and Herndon left New York in their attempt to beat the time of Wiley Post and Harold Gatty around the world, an attempt now abandoned, they carried 820 gallons of gasoline of which 90 gallons was in small tins.

Abandon Attempt for Record.

MOSCOW, Aug. 5—(AP)—Held at Khabarovsk by twenty-four hours of bad weather, the round-the-world fliers, Hugh Herndon, jr., and Clyde Pangborn, were reported by the Tass news agency today as having definitely abandoned their attempt to surpass the Post-Gatty record.

At the same time, it was reported, they decided to change their route by taking off for Tokyo tomorrow instead of continuing the course followed by Post and Gatty across the Bering sea to Nome, Alaska. They plan to remain in Tokyo seven days.

Farm Women's Exchange

A week ago it was necessary for me to go to one of this country's largest cities on a business trip. As I rode on street cars, busses and trains I reflected on the efficiency of persons employed in the service of carrying me and others to our destinations. Each man seemed so capable and so sure of himself. He was trained to do his work well. And then I reflected also why can't we all be proud of our jobs? No job is too humble to inspire admiration from those about us—that is if we know it well and serve others thereby.

Cheese and Tomato Soup Sandwich.

Simmer one can of tomato soup until it thickens. Add one cup of American cheese, cut into small pieces, and beat with a rotary egg beater until the cheese is melted, then add two beaten egg yolks, and beat until eggs are cooked with the tomato soup. Cool. To this sandwich filling base, add one minced pimento, two tablespoons horse radish, one minced green pepper or four chopped pickles. This recipe is a little unusual and as my readers are writing for unusual recipes, I have given it in the column.

Mixing Paint Easily.

Summer time isn't a bad time to paint. Perhaps my readers are doing some painting right now. Here's a hint. If twenty-four hours before you open a can of paint, the can is turned upside down, it will be found to be well mixed and almost ready to use. This is especially valuable to know when using old paint which has had time to become thoroughly settled.

Paint Oil Cloth Drapes.

Certain rooms of the house look well in oil cloth window drapes. Especially are these desirable in kitchen or breakfast room. By using a little paint, these drapes are improved greatly. Why not cut out the curtains and edge with painted border? For instance, if you have green voile curtains and black oil cloth drapes, paint a band of green on the black oil cloth to make a dainty border around the edge. Then in the middle of each curtain you might stencil a flower design or a cluster of flowers.

Wax Your Yarn.

A good deal of yarn is being used in the little flower basket door stops, flower centers, etc. If you are troubled on threading the needle, melt a little paro-wax in an old spoon and dip the end of the yarn into it. Then press it smoothly between the fingers and spin it to a point. It will then go through the needle almost as easily as thread. It saves a lot of time.

No Screen Flies.

Make a spray of three pints of kerosene, one pint of gasoline, and five tablespoons of stock-dip. Spray this about porch screens and doors. I am told that this spray also kills flies on stock.

Jelly Tip.

When making jelly, add from one-fourth to one-half teaspoon of butter to the juice, just before it begins to boil. This keeps it from boiling over and does away with a lot of skimming.

Belt Or No Belt.

If you are "stocky" about the waist, why wear a belt? Even though belts are popular these days, so are the nipped-in, form-fitting, normal waists. A very slender woman, of course, looks better in a belt. But with little avoiddupois or much, the silhouette type is becoming.

Some of the hats this fall will take a long, graceful feather that winds all about the tiny brim. And did you read that hat pins are coming back?

So easy to make and it stays moist so long that I am sure you will want my Hot Apple Sauce Cake recipe. Most of us use cold apple sauce. This recipe is a bit different. Would you like to know how to wax flowers? This idea too, is free. Send stamped, addressed envelope.

There are no more poke hat patterns, and it is too late in the season to have more printed. But I have plenty of sock dolls with instructions and illustrations. These are ten cents in coin and stamped, addressed envelope. Make Money sheets, ten cents in coin and stamped, addressed envelope.

Persons whose names appear in The Mail receive $1 for their contributions. Send your hints and recipes to Mrs. Clara Bell Graves, Editor Farm Women's Exchange, care of this paper. You may receive $1.

Cabbage Pie.

Boil cabbage until tender. Prepare rich pie crust and line a deep pie pan with it. Fill the pan with the cabbage and pour over it a custard made of one egg, well beaten, mixed with one cup of milk and salted quite heavily (about one teaspoon salt) if it is a large pie. Sprinkle a little pepper over the top and bake until the crust is done and the filling is firm. Strips of dough may be laid across the top if desired.—MISS BESSIE ECKARD, Pawnee City, Nebraska.

Unique Doorstop.

Find an empty quart syrup bucket, and fill with sand. Place the lid back on firmly. Or you may use earthen jars about twelve inches high or more (either will be all right). Buy about 15 cents worth of putty. Daub the putty about one-fourth inch thick and as smoothly as possible patting gently with the fingers and palm of the hand to shape it to jar or bucket. After the putty is on, stick on as many colorful things as you can find, such as pretty shells, political buttons or club buttons, add beads or button and pieces of colored glass, plus foreign coins or old coins. Even souvenirs of various trips you have made will help to cover your jar. If your jar has no lid cover the top of a coffee can with putty in the same manner. Broken, irregular pieces of mirror, will make a pretty top. It takes, perhaps, several weeks to dry your doorstop. Some pieces that are heavy have to be pushed up into place if they slip.—MRS. GEORGE C. DOOLEY, 814 Twentieth St., Belleville, Kansas.

Stiffen Clothes Without Starch.

Dissolve eight tablespoons salt in a gallon of water and rinse clothes to be starched through this water. This will make them like new material and be just stiff enough to look nice. Clothes will not stick to iron when ironing as starched clothes often do. The color and material will be preserved. Iron on the wrong side. This gives it a finish like new material.—MRS. EDW. KARFISEK, Wilber, Neb.

What 4-H Clubs Are Doing

ORD, August 5—Wilma Davis told the Merry Circle Sewing club how to make feather stitching when they met with Edythe Philbrick July 29. Wilma showed the girls how to make a straight stitch down then a short stitch across to make the feather stitch.

Viola Philbrick and Dorothy Davis demonstrated the testing and altering of patterns. "Measure across the largest part of the bust and the largest part of the hips," the girl said. Viola showed the girls that to shorten a pattern pleats were taken in it, and to lengthen the pattern it cut in certain places and spread apart.

VIOLA PHILBRICK.

Choose Garment Materials.

BLADEN, August 5—Broadcloth, organdie, print and voile were chosen as suitable materials for the child's garment by the Bladen Snapp Sewers at their meeting July 27. The girls decided that the figure in the material should be small and preferably of a light color. Tape, bias, and lace were suggested as suitable finishes.

Flannels and tweeds for winter were voile, silk, organdie, and similar materials for summer were chosen by the girls.

Mrs. Kupek, local leader of the club, showed the girls how to alter a pattern.

GOLDIE GARNER.

Pick Judging Team.

CLATONIA, August 5—Bernice Albert, Gladys Chittenden, and Evelyn Barton were chosen as the judging team, and Lucille McCormack and Gretchen Lohmeyer the demonstration team, to represent the Tasty Pastry club of Clatonia. The teams were chosen when the club met at the home of Gladys Chittenden, July 29.

Jack Dempsey Reported Ready Try Comeback

Manassa Mauler Plans Barnstorming Trip To Get the "Feel Of Ring"

RENO, Nev., Aug. 5—(INS)—Jack Dempsey will attempt to bring the heavyweight championship of the world back to America.

This was the interpretation placed today by friends in Reno on the announcement that the "Manassa Mauler" will have an "interesting announcement" to make at the conclusion of a seven months exhibition tour of the country.

Starting August 20, with an appearance in a local fight stadium, Dempsey will move into the northwest appearing probably in Portland, Seattle, Spokane, Salt Lake City and many small cities in Washington, Idaho and Utah, according to present plans.

He will then barnstorm his way east over the northern route, appear in the middle west and then proceed to the Atlantic seaboard.

Meet All Comers.

"Jack will meet all comers—no one barred," Leonard Sacks, his business manager, declared in announcing the exhibition tour.

Dempsey, according to Sacks, will draw down from $5,000 upwards for each appearance.

Dempsey has been working out for six weeks. During the last two weeks he has been working from six to 12 hours daily.

Under 200 Pounds

He has knocked off from 15 to 16 pounds and now weighs 198¾ pounds—about five pounds above his championship poundage ,and the lowest he has been for some time.

During the next two weeks, Dempsey will harden up. He plans to chop wood, dig c tches, pile rock and indulge in road work.

His exhibition bouts will give him the old "feel of the ring," he believes.

If he is satisfied with his condition at the end of his tour—and he believes he will be—Dempsey will be ready for a t at Max Schmeling.

At least this was the declaration of his friends here today.

Court Grants Delay In Hudkins Hearing

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 5—(INS)—The court today had granted Ace Hudkins, Nebraska fighter, a delay on his hearing of driving while intoxicated until Sept. 4, when the pugilist explained that he was in training for a fight here on Aug. 25 against Dynamite Jackson and did not wish to have his training interrupted by court proceedings.

The Lincoln Star's hard-hitting baseball crew clinched the title in the City League Tuesday evening by defeating the Gooch's Best tail-enders, 4-1, leading all the way. Louie Stroud's pennant winners will meet but one more foe on the schedule, tackling Wendelin in the feature of next week's slate.

Cy Sullivan, the league-leading flinger, won another game while holding the Millers to a single bingle, scored by Johnny Meyers, rival flinger, in the fourth frame, the hit advancing Boots Zichek to third and allowed the latter to score on Hergert's error. Meyers gave the Printers but four hits, but his strikeout total failed to grow with the usual rapidity, the strikeout king getting three whiffings to bring his total to 93.

Bretzer Pitches Well.

Henry Bretzer, Wendelin tosser, chucked a two-hit affair a' inst the sixth place Fraley Post Veterans as Wendelin regained a .500 average by downing the Soldiers by a 10-2 count. Bretzer was touched for one solid single and a scratch double, the ball being lost in the sun by first baseman Crabtree on the play. Bill McClun, Wendelin infielder socked a homer as first man up in the first inning on the first ball offered. Wendelin's had the usual lineup for the first time in a month.

Jake Lebsack was touched for nine bingles and six runs by Skelly, but the Banks converted nine hits into eight scores to defeat t h e Oilers. Lebsack fanned seven. The other game of the week, between Junior Chamber and City, was postponed until Wednesday. It will be played at Landis Field, beginning at 8:30, under the arc lights. Both teams are "spiked" for the fray. The scores:

Fans Not Strong For Slapsy Maxie

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—The fifteen round bout between Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion and court jester of the night clubs, and Jimmy Slattery, the Barney Oldfield of the state highways, at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, tonight might well be dubbed the "battle of the playboys."

Slapsy Maxie of the cream-puff punch is a 6 to 5 favorite to clown his way to a decision over the Buffalo Irishman, no longer the slashing master-boxer of 1925 when he was hailed as a future heavyweight champion.

Ticket Sale Poor.

In both attendance and fight pyrotechnics, the match promises to be the poorest titular bout held here since Rosenbloom defended his title at Madison Square Garden last winter against one Abie Bai for the edification of the working press, a few hundred deadheads and 14,000 empty seats.

Rosenbloom has never brought the customers rushing, while the lustre Slattery's many scintillating performances was dimmed here by knockouts at the hands of Dave Shade, Paul Berlenbach and Jimmy Braddock and a defeat by Tommy Loughran.

Tonight's bout will mark the seventh meeting between the two old rivals. Slattery won the decision four times and Maxie twice.

Slattery's friends claim he is in tip-top shape for what may be his last crack at the purple robes, but Rosenbloom, in accordance with his usual custom, has made no pretence of traininging seriously for the affair.

Kaysee Monarchs Play Here Next Wednesday

The Kansas City Monarchs, one of the fastest of colored baseball clubs, have been signed to appear in Lincoln against a team composed of City league all-stars Wednesday, August 12, at Landis Field in a night affair. The Monarchs won an exhibition game with the McCook club in the Nebraska league recently by the top-heavy score of 19-3. Louis Stroud, manager of The Star league champions, has been chosen to manage the all-star aggregation.

ISLANDERS GET BACK AT LINKS

Third Citys Put Over An 8-5 Victory At Lincoln Expense.

Bunched hits off Hagen and Lindahl again frustrated the Lincoln Links in their attempt to pass the Grand Island leaders in the second half of the State league pennant chase, the Islanders evening the series Tuesday night with an 8-5 victory over the challengers.

Hibbs went the route for the Islanders, but was touched for a total of 14 bingles by the Links, while the Islanders, were able to get the same number of blows off Lincoln's two ace hurlers. A two-run Lincoln rally tied the score in the seventh, but the Third City crew came back in the same inning to score three counters.

Lefty McKain, castoff of many Nebraska league clubs, turned in a masterful pitching exhibition at York as the Buffaloes downed the Dukes for the second straight time in extra-inning games. Monday the Buffs won 6-3, in 17 frames and on Tuesday were victorious 3-2 in 15 innings. York came from behind in the ninth and tenth frames to tie the count, but lost in number 15.

Matuzak kept Norfolk well behind the Generals as McCook defeated the Elks, 10-4. Matuzak gave but 4 bingles while Johnson was found for 15. Tuesday scores:

Kozeluh Wins Over Big Bill

MILWAKEE, Aug. 4 — (AP) — William T. Tilden, famous tennis player turned pro, went to his third consecutive defeat at the hands of Karel Kozeluh, European professional champion, last night. The match was played at the state fairgrounds in professional tennis' debut here, before 7,000 people. Scores of the match were 6-3, 4-6, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4.

Tilden paired with Emmett Pare in the one set doubles match to defeat Kozeluh and Bobby Sellers, 6-4.

Tilden threw away a good opportunity to win his match against Kozeluh in the fourth game of the fourth set when he had him down 3-1, and was leading 40-15 on his own service. Kozeluh came back when Tilden double-faulted the match away.

ROBERTI VICTIM CARNERA PUNCH

Big Eyetalian Punishes Newark Heavy In Short Fight.

BY HYPE IGOE.

NEWARK N. J. Aug. 5—Roberto Roberti couldn't stem the Carnera avalanche.

He made the bravest kind of a stand against big bootsie in Newark last night but Carnera was too much for him. Roberti lasted a little less than three rounds the bout ending in 2:35 of that chukker.

Roberti hit the deck six times before the referee, Gene Roman, stopped the bout. Roberti was downed twice for counts of seven in the first. After he had been flattened four times in the third, he got up and was fighting when Roman stopped it.

Roberti was bleeding from the mouth and nose when the halt was called. That third round was a shambles. Roberti was getting a stiff clouting as the round progressed, and suddenly he went to the floor in a scramble. He got up after a count of four, but a stiff left to the jaw tilted him over to one side and a right-hander following smacked Roberti on the chest and down he went a second time.

Right To the Jaw.

Roberti got up again. He ripped into Carnera a d was socking him aplenty when a right to the jaw crumpled Roberti again for the count of nine. He was groggy by now and when he attempted to lash out at bootsie he fell to his knees without being hit. Up he got a fourth time but he was pitifully gone.

No finger on this Carnera battle, boys and girls. It was dead on the up and up, for no man ever took a worse shellacking than Roberti.

The bout drew $13,130 net and 7,957 cash customers.

Start Revamp Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO, Aug. 5 — (INS) — The Cubs were regarded as being in the process of reconstruction today following the purchase of Billy Herman, second baseman, from Louisville of the American association.

This action was believed to be the first of a number designed to revamp the Chicago club. President William Veeck did not divulge the amount of cash handed over for Herman, but intimated it was considerable.

Giants Keep On Trail Of Cards With Double Victory Over Dodgers

BY COPELAND C. BURG.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5 — Folks who believe in miracles turned today to the New York Giants with the hope they might yet make a race out of the National league pennant chase.

The men of McGraw defeated the Brooklyn Robins twice Tuesday and now are seven games behind the St. Louis Cardinals. That's quite a lot, and it hardly seems likely the Giants will ever come closer than three or four games to the Redbirds.

They are playing with a crippled crew. Such stars as Lindstrom, Ott and Critz won't return to the lineup for a while and Manager McGraw is still absent from the dugout.

Jackson Leads Attack.

Forty-five thousand fans saw Fitzsimmons win the opener, 6 to 3, largely because of a hitting attack headed by Capt. Travis Jackson, who got three safeties off Clark. Walker hurled six-hit ball in the 3 to 2 nightcap with Dazzy Vance the hurling victim. Hunnefield doubled to score Jackson with the winning run.

Barton, the recruit outfielder from Los Anegles, whacked two homers as the Cubs won from the Cincy Reds, 7 to 3, after taking the first game 4 to 2. Bush limited the Reds to seven hits in the opener.

Cards Stop Pirates.

A fumble by Pitcher Heinie Meine in the sixth gave St. Louis three runs and a victory over the Pirates, 7 to 1.

Ray Benge hurled shutout ball up to the ninth inning and the Phillies conquered Boston, 3 to 2. The Braves took the vesper, 4 to 2. Chuck Klein, the Phillies' big stick man, got homer No. 24 off Sherdel.

Vic Frazier left down Detroit with eight clouts, the White Sox annexing it, 5 to 1. It was Frazier's second win in the four game series, his victories giving Chicago an even break.

Wet grounds held up the Cleveland Indians at St. Louis and other clubs were not scheduled.

Uhlig Plans Defend Title as Iron King

Guy Uhlig, one-arm tosser of Cozad, will be back at the Nebraska state fair this year to defend his state horseshoe pitching title, acording to F. A. Good, in charge of the state meet.

Uhlig, three-time state champion, has been going great guns this year, including among his wins a victory over Putt Mossman, former world-champion. Uhlig also defeated Allen, Boulder ace pitcher, to win the Colorado-Nebraska meet at Kimball. In the latter event Uhlig won four of five games.

LOCKE TO PLAY AT LANDIS LOT

Ex-Husker Speedster In Lineup for Game Tonight.

Roland Locke, world record-holder in the 220-yard dash, will be one of the participants in the City league game tonight between the City of Lincoln and the Junior Chamber of Commerce, both of which are hard-hitting teams. Locke is probably the fastest man on the bases in Lincoln, and in addition to his speed is a hitter, having a batting average of .444 in the four games he has already played. The game will be played at Landis, beginning at 8:30.

Manager Frank Ullstrom of the Junior Chamber nine announced his lineup with its "Murderer's Row," as Max Roper, ss; John Hollingsworth, 1b; Mutt Volz, 2b; Steve Hokuf, cf; Roland Locke, cf; Glen Ullstrom, 3b; Frank Ullstrom, rf; Sowers, c; Dale Cress, p, and Whitey Clarke, Doc Peterson and Duckett, utility. Roper, Hollingsworth, Volz, Hokuf, Glen and Frank Ullstrom have made life miserable for many a pitcher in the City league race thus far, and coming in succession promise plenty of punch.

The City lineup probably will be the one which scored the only defeat of the year against the league champion Lincoln Star nine July 7. It will have Claude VanLandingham, c; Paul Feaster, 2b; Deac Simpson, ss; Sunny Barker, p; Gene Masters, 1b; Fisher, lf; Carl Johnson, cf; Welch, 3b; Towle, rf. The City nine unloosed plenty of power to beat the champions and the two teams should put on a hard game.

Wilfred Kruse Captures City Tennis Laurels

Former Purdue Player Defeats Wilbur Haegen In Straight Set Match

Wilfred Kruse, Concordia college professor who during the summer spends his working hours on the University of Nebraska campus and his recreational periods at the Lincoln Tennis club, Tuesday afternoon captured the Lincoln city tennis championship. In bagging his first capital city title, Kruse defeated Wilbur Haegen, 6-4, 6-4, 6-0.

Stroking the ball to the corners of the court with machine-like precision, Kruse drove through to a decisive victory, his steady drives which made up with spin what they lacked in the speed left the Concordia schoolmaster in control of the match at every turn.

Elliott-McBride Win.

While Kruse was capturing the singles championship, the doubles tournament was producing another upset to be added to the string of dope reversals in the 1931 city meet Don Elliott and Gregg McBride, former state champions, eliminated Paul Mahood and Art Hoag, the ranking combination in the doubles event Elliott and McBride won 3-6, 4-6, 8-6, 6-4, 6-2.

The Tuesday victory placed McBride and Elliott in the finals They will meet the winner of the Big North-George Dobson vs. Wilbur Haegen-Al Calvert match which was scheduled for Wednesday afternoon The doubles finals have been tentatively booked for the Lincoln Tennis club Thursday at 4 30 p. m.

Kruse Took Steady.

In winning the singles title Wilfred Kruse flashed too steady a brand of tennis for the youthful Haegen. The young racqueteer, who uncorked a brilliant array of overhead play in disposing of Paul Mahood, defending champion, in an earlier round, appeared to be drawn off his usual game.

Kruse stroked the ball to the corners and was always forcing the issues in some of the prolonged rallies which usually wound up with the champion working his opponent out of position.

Champion Starts Early.

Kruse started early to establish his superiority. He rolled through the first two games with the loss of only two points and won the set at 6-4, grabbing a 4-1 lead and then smothering a Haegen rally.

The second set also went to Kruse after 10 games, Haegen making a fine stand to win the first game after it had been twice deuced but losing after carrying the count to three-all.

The loss of the first two sets appeared to wilt Haegen and he lost the third at love, making to get a deuce call on only one game—the third. The match score

First set—
Kruse	4	4	2	4	4	2	1	5	1	4	—31—6
Haegen	1	1	4	0	1	4	4	3	4	0	—22—4
Second set—
Kruse	4	4	2	6	7	5	4	4	3	4	—43—6
Haegen	6	2	4	4	5	7	1	2	5	1	—37—4
Third set—
Kruse	4	6	4	4	4						—26—6
Haegen	2	2	4	0	2	2					—12—0

Fast Doubles Match.

The doubles match which brought the Mahood-Hoag and Elliott-McBride combinations into action was fast from start to finish. Mahood and Hoag were hitting their overhead in spectacular style during the first two sets and smashed through to win 6-3, 6-4.

After watching their lobbs driven all over the court, McBride and Elliott started a barrage of cross court volleys which finally pulled out the second 8-6, the winners rallying after a 3-4 score against them.

McBride and Elliott squared the match by taking the fourth set at 6-4 and rolled up a 4-1 lead to coast out in the fifth and deciding set 6-2.

In the other doubles match of the afternoon, Wilbur Haegen and Alfred Calvert disposed of Franklin Foster and Ellery Davis in straight sets 6-2, 6-2

Sherman-Asmus Win.

Harold Sherman recently crowned champion of the Public Courts tennis tourney paired with Lydia Asmus to take first honors in the mixed doubles competition Tuesday, defeating Kathro Kidwell who won the women's singles division, and her partner Edward F Stepp jr., 6-4, 7-5 in a tight hard fought match. Only two games of the entire match were won at love Sherman-Asmus blanking Stepp and Kidwell in the third game of the second set and the other pair turning tables and plastering a love game on the titleholders in the sixth game of the second set

HE REMEMBERS.

Rogers Hornsby shifted over to third base when he slowed down at second. But it wasn't entirely new to him. As a young man he played third for the Cards, 15 years back Hornsby has been on every infield job and in the outfield in over 2,000 games.

SATO IN FRONT ST. PAUL FIELD

Japanese Fish Salesman Set Pace Qualifiers In Muny Meet.

ST PAUL, Minn., Aug. 5—(AP)—A Japanese fish salesman from the ferry district of San Francisco, Arthur Sato, led the sharpshooters of America's public courses today as the tussle for medalist and team honors in the annual national public links golf championship moved into its final 18-hole round over the wind swept Keller club stretch.

Sato, a native of the land of the rising sun who has been playing golf for only six years, moved in front of the procession of 179 starters yesterday by touring the championship course with the only par 72 of the day. His performance gave him a two-shot lead in the race for medalist honors and it shoved his San Francisco teammates four strokes ahead in the battle for the Warren G. Harding trophy, emblematic of the national public links team supremacy of the nation.

115-Pound Player.

Two shots behind the little son of Nippon, a 115-pound giant of the fairways, came a trio of public course idols from three scattered cities in the east and south—Charles Albertus, a printer from Philadelphia, David Mitchell of Indianapolis, who tossed away his chances to take the lead in the first round by slumping to a 40 on his backward trip after bagging a par-smashing 34 on his first nine holes, and Art Nutting of Louisville, a dark horse whose golfing prowess was not considered quite good enough to win him a place on the Louisville Harding cup team. Each had 74's.

Trailing that trio by a shot came Ed Greenway, Seattle, and Barney Lucas, Los Angeles. Five others had 76's to keep within shooting distance of the prized medal—Charles Delsanter, Cleveland, Bob Gourlay, Seattle; Mike Surmiak, Philadelphia; Charles Ferrera, San Francisco, and Fred Gordon of Santa Monica.

Bob Wingate of Jacksonville, Fla., the defending titleholder found himself in a rather tight spot as the second 18-hole skirmish of the qualifying round opened. Wingate needed even the exceptional break of a startling deuce on the 18th hole, a par five, to wind up with a 78 on his initial round

Fortunately for him and Carl Kauffman, three-times winner of the crown and a big favorite in this golf war who required a 79, the heavy wind sent scores soaring to such heights that a pair of 78's appeared to be easily enough to land among the 32 qualifiers for the match play fight which will feature the rest of the fight for the title starting tomorrow and ending Saturday with a 36 hole final.

Mangin Upsets Doeg In Three-Set Match At Eastern Tourney

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 5—(AP)—Gregory Mangin, of Newark, N. J., ranked sixth on the United States tennis list for 1930, today defeated his fellow townsman John Hope Doeg, national champion and number one, 4-6, 6-4, 6-0 in the quarter-finals of the annual Meadow club tournament.

Doeg also was beaten by David N. Jones, Columbia university captain, in the New Jersey championships, his first tournament of the year.

Mangin's victory placed him in the upper-half semi-final where he will meet the winner of the match between the intercollegiate champion Keith Gledhill, and the 1930 college king Cliff Sutter

Doeg's Third Defeat.

The defeat was the third for Doeg in his last three tournaments Ellsworth Vines, jr., 19-year-old Pasadena, Calif., player won from the left-handed champion in the finals of the Longwood and Seabright tournaments

Doeg admittedly had entered the Southampton lists in the hope of getting an opportunity to erase these two defeats by the lanky California boy

Putting plenty of punch into his strokes in the important third set, George M. Lott, jr., Philadelphia, won his way into the lower half semi-finals by beating Berkeley Bell, Austin, Texas, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3 Lott will meet the winner of today's Ellsworth Vines, jr.-Wilbur F. Coen match.

Mrs Van Ryn Wins.

EASTHAMPTON, N Y, Aug 5—(INS)—This was moving day for British and American women tennis stars who completed play here yesterday in the annual invitation at the maidstone club for the William H. Woodin gold cups.

Mrs John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, wife of the Davis cup doubles star, won the singles final from the British Wightman cup star, Mrs. Dorothy C. Shepherd-Barron, while the doubles battle between two English teams was won after a hard struggle, the combination of Miss Betty Nuthall and Miss Phyllis Mudford defeating Miss Dorothy Round and Mrs. Eileen Bennett Whitsingstall, 5-7, 7-5, 6-2.

Several of the high ranking stars moved over to Southhampton, where they will take part in mixed doubles Others went on to New York to practice for the Wightman cup matches

Mrs Van Ryn accomplished two definite results in beating Mrs. Shepherd-Barron before a large gallery She made up for the 6-2, 7-5 defeat her adversary scored here in the final round in 1929 and she probably gained for herself a place on the American Wightman cup combination.

Unofficial reports were that she will take the singles berth of Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup who, after being named officially, announced she will not participate in the international matches.

Stock Prices Dragged Lower Wednesday By Persistent Selling Of American Telephone

Many Losses of A Point or More

Sales Under Million Shares; Business Statistics Cheerless.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 5

Persistent selling of American Telephone dragged the stock market lower in another sluggish session today.

The turnover was well under a million shares, but losses of a point or more were numerous at the finish, with a few issues off 2 to nearly 5. Bonds were also inclined to sag, particularly foreigns and rails.

Midweek business statistics, particularly on steel and freight car loadings, were cheerless, and a sharp slump in the British pound sterling, part of which was later regained, was an unsettling aspect of the foreign situation.

The stock market rallied for a time in the afternoon, but fresh selling of Telephone toward the close carried that issue off nearly 5 points. Stocks down 2 to 3 included American Can, Eastman, Johns Manville, Pullman and Western Union. While losses of a point or more were numerous, embracing such stocks as U. S. Steel, North American, Consolidated Gas, Westinghouse, General Electric, Pennsylvania and New York Central. The rails held up somewhat better than they did yesterday.

In connection with selling of American Telephone, there have been some bearish rumors in brokerage circles over the dividend, but the Associated Press learned authoritatively that no reduction in the $9 annual rate has been considered, and that earnings are holding above requirements, unless next year should prove unexpectedly bad, there is said to be not even a remote prospect of reduction. Directors meet in a fortnight.

The rail issues were depressed by the weekly freight car loadings report for the period ended July 25, showing a decline of 15,803 cars from the preceding week to a total of 741,752 cars. This is a reduction of 360,301 from the high levels of the like week two years ago.

The weekly steel trade reviews reported that ingot production, which had stepped up from 30 to 32 per cent of capacity in the previous week, was once more back to 30 per cent, the low level of the depression. "Iron Age" pointed out that half of the automobile manufacturing capacity was idle, and the important rail mills shut down, concluding "the outlook for August can hardly be called encouraging."

Because dividends have been reduced on such old favorites as U. S. Steel and New York Central, some brokers state that the investing public has become unduly nervous over all dividends. General Motors directors, meeting after the close of today's market, are expected in usually well-informed quarters to make the regular quarterly payment, and there is believed to be no immediate prospect of curtailment of the General Electric disbursement.

The stock market drifted almost steadily downward in dull trading during the earlier hours of today's session.

American Telephone was a weak feature, losing nearly 4 points. Issues off 2 to 3 points included American Can, Westinghouse, Pullman, Western Union and Eastman.

Losses of a point or so were numerous, appearing in such issues as General Motors, U. S. Steel, Consolidated Gas, North American, Case, Dupont, New York Central and Baltimore and Ohio.

Call money renewed at 1½ per cent.

The stock market experienced a moderate setback at the opening today, but trading turned extremely dull after the first few minutes, and several shares scored partial recovery.

American Telephone was a soft spot, opening 2½ points lower with a 3,000-share transaction. Allied Chemical declined 2, then regained 1. American Can lost 1¾, then reduced its loss to one point.

Miscellaneous issues selling off a point or more included Baltimore and Ohio, Atchison, Case, Dupont, Eastman, Electric Power and Light, International Harvester, Johns-Manville, New York Central, North American, Pullman, U. S. Steel, Westinghouse, and Delaware and Hudson.

General Motors sagged ¾ of a point. Directors meet for dividend action after the close of the market today. Brokerage circles have been predicting that the regular payment would be made, since it was more than earned.

The midweek business statistics were rather bearish. Freight car loadings as reported for the latest week showed a decline of more than 15,000 cars from the previous week. Steel production was estimated at back to 30 per cent of capacity, after last week's advance from 30 to 32 per cent.

Sterling Exchange weakened markedly, and it was expected that part of the $125,000,000 credit offered by the federal reserve would soon be used to support it. Sterling cables opened at $4.85 1-16, off [illegible] of a cent.

NEW YORK CURB REVIEW.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 5

The curb was inclined to ease today, but the downward movement was gentle and punctuated by occasional rallies.

Prices held in the same narrow range that has characterized recent sessions, although volume increased somewhat. Dealings were limited to usual favorites.

Electric Bond and Share was offered early in some volume, selling off a point, but firmed when the volume dried up. Other prominent utilities did little.

Specialties and oils were dull. The latter held close to yesterday's levels, virtually undisturbed by the increase in crude oil production.

Weakness in the former group was confined to high priced shares such as Mead Johnson and Aluminum of America. De Forest Radio, Woolworth Ltd., General Theaters and Ford of England were nominally lower. United Founders encountered considerable selling, especially during the forenoon, but then turned bull.

Other investment trusts were quiet. Call money renewed at 2 per cent.

Corn price setbacks were emphasized by official reports that in northwestern portions of the country where the crop was not too badly damaged by heat and drought corn has been benefited by rains. This included principally Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, Montana and parts of South Dakota. Chicago arrivals of corn today were 21 cars, against 31 a week ago.

No. 2 yellow hard wheat sold in Chicago today at 45 cents a bushel outdoing previous all time official bottom quotations for regular contract grade cash wheat in Chicago. Most of the cash wheat business here in contract grades, however, consists of No. 2 red and No. 2 hard, which today were quoted fractionally higher than yesterday's record low, 45½ cents.

Grain Prices Swing Lower

Wheat Finishes Nervous, ¾ to 1¼c Off; Corn ⅞ to ½c Down.

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 5

Fresh downward swings of grain prices today paralleled a collapse of the Liverpool wheat market to a new low record for the season. The Liverpool closing quotation on October delivery of wheat, 44¾ cents, was within ¼ cent of the average the year 1591, an average unequaled since. price of English-grown cash wheat for World economic conditions were regarded by trade authorities here as chiefly responsible. There was no evidence of any North American wheat export business today.

Chicago wheat future deliveries closed nervous, ¾ to 1¼ cents lower than yesterday's finish, September 48½@⅝c, December 53⅛@¼c. Corn ⅞ to 1½ cents down, September 51⅛@¼c, December 41⅞@42c, with oats also ⅞ to 1½c off. Provisions rallied with hog values, and closed unchanged to 12 cents higher.

Much lower Liverpool wheat quotations than expected led early today to sharp new setbacks in grain prices here, with wheat, corn, oats future deliveries reaching fresh bottom levels. Liverpool reported heavy offerings of all descriptions of wheat, with Russian and Danubian prices slashed. Opening ½ to 1¼ cents down, the Chicago wheat market afterward showed but little power to rally. Corn started ⅝ to 1½c off, and later continued to sag.

All Chicago future deliveries on wheat was an official estimate that the world's wheat carry-over on July 1 amounted to more than 670,000,000 bushels, compared with 563,000,000 bushels a year ago. There were also predictions that within a week the 1931 spring wheat harvest would have spread northward into Manitoba province, Canada and that Alberta and Saskatchewan provinces would soon follow. Corn and oats worked lower as a result of sympathy with wheat.

Provisions were responsive to weakness of cereals.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 5

The bond market declined irregularly today. Sporadic activity appeared in all sorts of issues but the trading as a whole was moderate.

Most foreign, railroad and industrial obligations lost ground. Losses were generally larger and activity greater in the two former groups than in the latter. Selling pressure and lower prices in St. Louis San Francisco 4½s of 1978, Nickel Plate 4½s of 1978, Erie 5s of 1975 and St. Paul 5s of 2000 featured rail loans. The decline among them was general but more noticeable among the grade loans than in the high grade and gilt edge issues.

A sharp contrast in Belgian 7s of 1956 on an active turnover contrasted with the action of other foreign loans. German 7s of 1949 were 1¾ points lower at one much more active, dropped fractions. Ca-time but the 5½s of 1965, which were bles from Berlin reported that the reopening of German banks was carried out so satisfactorily that some banks reported a considerable surplus of deposits. Brazilian 6½s of 1927-57 and Australian 5s were active at fractional recessions. Other foreign issues remained quiet but they showed a declining tendency.

Dodge Brothers ½ of 1940 dropped about 2 points, one of the largest losses of the industrial group. United States Rubber 5s of 1947 scored a sizeable loss too. Youngstown Sheet & Tube 5s of 1978, Armour 4½s of 1939 and Lorillard 5½s receded fractionally.

Loans of the United States government were dull again and steady.

Stock privilege obligations lost fractions in sympathy with the heaviness in the stock market. Changes in public utilities were narrow and mixed on moderate trading.

New York Sugar.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 5

SUGAR—Raw sugar was steady today, with an overnight sale reported of 19,000 bags of Cuban afloat to a local refiner at 3.50 duty paid. Later another local refiner paid 3.51 for 28,400 bags of Porto Ricos, making the marekt 1 point higher.

Futures developed a somewhat easier undertone under moderate September liquidation as well as some Cuban selling. The opening was unchanged to 1 point lower, b ut despite the scarcity of offerings of raw sugar and the continued interest of refiners on the 3.50 basis or better, selling through commission houses developed in the near month, which had a depressing effect on the list. Around middal the market was barely steady, net 1 to 3 points decline.

Withdrawals of refined continued in moderately heavy volume. Refiners continued to quote fine granulated at 4.75. Second hands are acvailable at 4.50 to 4.65, depending upon brand.

GRAIN NOTES

CHICAGO, Aug. 5—(AP)—Professional wheat traders are buying May in Minneapolis and selling Chicago, which has helped to enliven business. Chicago traders were good sellers of wheat futures in Winnipeg.

Nat C. Murray, crop statistician, in a review of the word wheat crop situation, says not much change has occurred in the world wheat prospect during July.

Harvey S. Williams in a wire to Thomson and McKinnon from Huron, S. D., says: "South Dakota corn a calamity. From Mitchell to Aberdeen and back to Huron only occasional fields will make any crop. Wheat harvest nearing completion, very light, and many fields will not be cut."

A forecast made by one of the largest traders is for a quiet wheat market until after the middle of September, when it will be possible to know something definite about reduction in the winter wheat acreage.

Chicago Livestock.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5
(U. S. Department of Agriculture.)

A hard task confronted cattle salesmen in the local stockyards today. With a liberal supply of short fed and grassy cattle, combined with a stunted summer demand buyers could not be induced to take hold except by the lure of price concessions. Receipts of 14,000 were well above a week ago and a year ago, and demand began to lag on Tuesday. Strictly choice grain-finished steers and heifers still hold their position out in front, but bids on even the better classes were lower. The high point of $9.40, paid for yearling steers on Monday and Tuesday, was the highest since early in May.

The $8.00 hog price was re-established on a moderate supply, estimated at 13,000 hog, only 1,000 of which went to local packing plants. Fair action marked the initial round of trading, shippers leading the early buying movement, paying strong to 10c higher than Tuesday's average for the rank and file of hogs weighing under 210 lbs. Many sales were made at $7.90 to $8.00 and 230-lb. annals of choice quality were wanted at $7.70. About 5,000 stale hogs were carried over unsold from the previous session.

Holding out for better prices commission men were not able to entice buyers to make their customary quota or sheep and lambs early today. Eastern demand was so small it was negligible. Fresh receipts of 10,000 live muttons carried only a single car billed straight to slaughter houses.

New York Cotton.
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 5

A further decline in cotton today reflected more or less general selling, influenced by weakness in Liverpool, a favorable interpretation of the weather and crop news and the declines in stocks and grain.

All deliveries made new low records for the season, with December contracts selling off to 8.25 or 21 points net lower, but this price attracted a little more covering of trade buying and the mid-afternoon market showed rallies of 6 or 7 points from the lowest.

Fluctuations were comparatively narrow in the late trading, with the market closing steady at net declines of 16 to 19 points.

COTTON—Opened barely steady today 14 to 16 points lower with the general list selling 17 to 19 points net lower during the first few minutes under heavy general offerings inspired by the weakness i Liverpool and a favorable view of weather conditions over the greater part of the belt.

October contracts broke to 8.05 and Jan. to 8.39. After the first rush of selling subsided prices showed rallies of 6 or 7 points from the lowest at the end of the first half hour.

The moderate demand encountered on the early decline was quite readily supplied during the middle of the morning and the comparatively slight rallies were followed by renewed weakness.

Selling sent prices off to 8.03 for Oct. and 8.31 for Jan. or about 20 to 21 points below yesterday's levels. The market was quiet but within 3 or 4 points of the lowest at midday.

Budget For Aviation Increased By France

PARIS—(AP)—There is no depression in France's support of aviation.

The air budget for the fiscal year 1931-32 is more than $7,000,000 larger than the previous year, totaling approximately $86,428,000.

Commercial aviation was recognized with a sum of $7,682,200 for civil airline subsidies.

"Tourist" aviation will be encouraged with a fund of $784,000 four times the amount allotted last year.

The budget included nearly $23,313,895 for planes and equipment for the French air force and $203,965 for hospital planes and material.

Eleanor Holm, American back stroke swimming champion, turned down an offer from Ziegfeld to dance in the Follies because it would interfere with her swimming.

CASTOFFS BUSY WNNING GAMES

Brooklyn Misfits Show Real Goods With Other Clubs.

One of the big problems in major league baseball is found in the "misfit" players—men who don't do well with one team or have no real place on it but who often become great players when sent to another club.

Two Brooklyn castoffs, Harvey Hendrick and Jake Flowers, who were merely good but not particularly useful utility players with the Robins, have attracted a wide attention this season by their performances since being traded. Hendrick, a regular with Cincinnati, is one of the National league's leading batsmen and Flowers, sent to St. Louis for the waiver price, has proved almost invaluable as a substitute for Frisch and Gelbert.

Hunnefield Blossoms Out.

Another such player has cropped up recently in Bill Hunnefield, who had a varied career with the Chicago White Sox, Cleveland Indians and Boston Braves before he landed with the New York Giants in mid season. Hunnefield has fitted nicely into the Giant machine in the hole left by the injury of Hughie Critz. He has proved an expert defensive player and, while not a strong batter, a good enough man at the plate.

Hunnefield did his share toward New York's double victory over the Brooklyn Robins yesterday by driving in one run in the first game and scoring one in the second. Travis Jackson was the big gun of the Giant attack that turned back the Robins by scores of 6 to 3 and 3 to 2. He made five hits, including a home run, in the two games. Fred Fitzsimmons and Bill Walker did fine mound work for New York, the latter besting Dazzy Vance in a six-hit duel in the second game.

Cubs Keep The Pace.

Chicago's Cubs, refusing to let the Giants gain an inch in their struggle for second place, took a doubleheader from the humble Cincinnati Reds by scores of 4 to 2 and 7 to 3. The Reds finally broke into the scoring in the sixth inning of the first game after 45 runless innings, but their losing streak went to six straight games. Two hitters and two pitchers divided the honors. Vince Barton, Young Chicago outfielder, and Kiki Cuyler each made five hits, Barton clouting two homers in the second game, while Guy Bush and Sugar Sweetland held the Red batters in submission.

Pittsburgh ran its string of shutout innings to 45, then saw it broken with a loud crash. Henry Meine, trying for his third straight shutout victory over the Cardinals, made an error in the sixth inning and the league champions broke through for seven runs in two innings to win 7 to 1.

Phils, Braves Divide.

The Phillies and the Boston Braves split the third twin-bill on the National league program. Ray Benge stopped the Braves with six hits to gain a 3 to 2 victory in the opener while Wee Willie Sherdel, making his first start in a month, outpitched Clise Dudley in the second clash and Boston won 4 to 2. Chuck Klein featured the second game with his 24th home run of the season.

Vic Fraiser's pitching enabled the Chicago White Sox to gain an even break with Detroit in their "cellar" series. Frasier, who won the opening game Saturday with a six-hit performance, held the Tigers to eight blows to win the final clash 5 to 1. Rain halted the battle between Cleveland and St. Louis while the other American league teams had an off day.

Demons Hold Pace In Western Loop

Postponement of the final game of the series between Pueblo and Wichita has eased the tenseness of the situation in the first division of the Western league.

The pacemaking Des Moines club, however, remained two and one-half game in front of St. Joseph, both teams winning their tilts on yesterday's schedule. Pueblo fell a full game behind the Saints, while Topeka dropped the same distance in the wake of the Braves. The game at Wichita was called because of rain.

The Demons all but posted a shut out against the Senators behind the five hit pitching of their ace, Bud Tinning. The score was 7 to 1. Topeka's lone tally being made on Eggert's fluke homer, which rolled through a hole in the fence. Keyes pounded out a homer for the Iowans with one on in the fourth.

Limited to only three hits by big Jim Richardson, Omaha dropped a 4 to 2 decision at St. Joseph. Stine and Dunagan were the victims of a 14 hit attack by Frank Haley's crew.

A duel between Greer of Denver and Jones of Oklahoma City ended in a scoreless tie in the ninth as the tilt was called to allow the teams to catch a train. Each allowed five hits. Only one player in the entire lineup reached third base.

No games were scheduled for today.

Bell Slipping In Long Set Matches

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 5—Take it from Berkeley Bell, the rambling Texan, this "patriotism" stuff is the bunk.

Tennis fans who remember the wiry Longhorn's spectacular victories of 1929 and his first-round win in last year's nationals over Jean Borotra, have been wondering, ever since the 1931 outdoor campaign began, about the marked change in Bell's game.

"Patriotism," was Bell's solution for the slump in his game today, evolved as he waited on the veranda of the Meadow club for George Lott, Wimbledon doubles champion, to show up for their quarter-final match in the club's annual invitation tournament.

"That international team match with France in New York last March ruined me," Berkeley said. "I played the best tennis I ever played in all my life to beat Frank Shields in the indoor nationals the week before. The match took a lot out of me.

"But the U. S. L. T. A. asked me to play against France and I couldn't very well refuse. Patriotism, you know.

Bell's lack of stamina was apparent in his third-round match with Jake Hess, a fellow-Texan yesterday. He played five games at top-notch speed, then dropped three games in a row before he could put the first set across.

Hess took advantage of his tired condition to pull the second chapter out, but in the final set Bell rallied to take the match.

The Texan can hardly hope to do the same thing against Lott today. The Davis cup star isn't playing any too well himself, and Bell might easily upset him.

In addition to the Lott-Bell contest, three other good matches are on today's Southampton program.

Johnny Doeg, national champion, who dropped a set to Edgar Yoemans, North Carolina star, and then conquered Bruce Barnes in straight sets, meets a formidable foe in Gregory Mangin, the Newark star who has beaten him six times in thirteen matches.

Ellsworth Vines, the Californian who is favored to succeed Sidney Wood as Meadow club champion, opposes Junior Cohen, upset winner over John Van Ryn. Keith Gledhill, who put Wilmer Allison out in the second round, will meet Clifford Sutter, former intercollegiate champion.

Missions' Catcher To Join Pittsburgh Club

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 5—(INS)—Sale of Bill Brenzel, youthful catcher of the Mission club of the Pacific Coast league, to the Pittsburgh Pirates was announced here today. The Missions will get one player from the Pirates in addition to a bundle of cash. The entire deal was said to have involved $50,000.

THE WEATHER.

A trough of low pressure extends from Arizona and Utah to Lake Superior. High temperatures continue on its eastern side in the southern Plains, the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys, and the Lake region, and mostly fair weather except for moderate showers in eastern Kansas and western Missouri. Rising pressure and cooler weather appear in the northern Mountain region and the northern Great Plains, attended by considerable cloudiness and some light rain in places. Fair and warm weather continues in the Atlantic region.

SPORT SLANTS

BY ALAN GOULD
ASSOCIATED PRESS SPORTS EDITOR

SINCE the National and American leagues are using a different baseball this year, contrasting sharply in its lively characteristics, the presumption is that both will be used in the world's series, depending on the scene of combat.

For example, on the basis of present prospects, the Cardinals will entertain the Athletics on their home grounds for the first two games, starting September 30, and put the National league ball into play. Then, when the warring clans move to Shibe Park for a continuation of the strife, the American league ball will be supplied.

This should afford an interesting opportunity for study and comparison. Unquestionably, the American league ball is livelier. The batting records and the home run figures reveal this quite convincingly but the facts are proof enough.

When the two leagues decided to curb the slugging orgies by establishing more balance of power between the pitcher and batsman, both agreed on raised stitches. This favors the moundsmen and has enabled him to put more "stuff" on his delivery.

The National league, however, went a step further and thickened the cover. Since this ball does not begin to travel with the rifle shot speed of the old one, slugging percentages in the senior circuit have taken a big tumble and home run hitters like Hack Wilson have lost their chief stock in trade.

The magnates profess to be immensely pleased by the change which has produced closer, better played games and eliminated the exaggerated ideas of high paid sluggers.

It remains to be seen, however, whether the American leaguers decide to follow the National's lead or choose to retain a livelier target for such notable gate attractions as Ruth, Gehrig, Foxx, Simmons and Averill.

Hitting That Hurts.

Take it from the Washington angle, it's the slugging of the Athletics, more than their superior pitching, that has put them so far in front.

"It appears that the Nationals have not the slugging power to make them an outstanding outfit," writes John B. Keller in the Washington Star. "They are well shaded by the A's in the number of doubles clouted and though they excel at triple making, they are far back of Connie Mack's bunch in hammering homers. The A's have made more than twice as many home runs.

"To get runs, the Nationals have to do a deal of successive hitting. The A's do not. There is much effort wasted by the Nationals in offense while the A's get great results from their rocking of the ball. A homer following a brace of singles does much more damage than another single. And at getting those long drives back of the slighter hits the A's so far outclass the Nationals that there is no fair comparison."

Red Sox Champion?

The Boston Red Sox have never produced an American league batting champion, and as a consequence there is some agitation over the race that Earl Webb, the reformed pitcher, is giving Babe Ruth and Al Simmons for this season's clouting honors.

Webb caromed around both major leagues until he received a chance to make good with the Sox. He has developed a penchant for hitting doubles and may break the record. No less an authority than Red Ruffing of the Yankees says Webb is one of the hardest men to pitch to in the league.

Ina Claire Says Gilbert "Cruel"; Obtains Divorce

'Ideal Romance' of Prominent Film Couple Crashes on Rocks.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 5—(AP)—The airplane elopement of Ina Claire, stage and screen actress, and John Gilbert, romantic movie actor, whose marriage was termed the "ideal romance," has crashed in the divorce courts.

The actress obtained the decree yesterday on a charge of mental cruelty, saying Gilbert told her they were temperamentally unsuited to each other and that he wanted to be left alone.

Although a private hearing had been sought before Superior Judge Joseph Sproul, the news of the case became public and spectators trooped into the judge's chambers.

Miss Claire's low-voiced testimony followed closely the charges of the complaint, asserting a "course of habitual cruelty which resulted in great mental pain and suffering."

Gilbert Not In Court.

Gilbert, who eloped by airplane with Miss Claire, in May, 1929, to Las Vegas, Nev., did not attend the hearing.

"You say he requested you to leave home?" Judge Sproul asked leaning forward.

"He did," whispered Miss Claire. "He said we were temperamentally unsuited to each other and . . ."

Newspaper cameras clicked. Flashlights bulbs flared. The actress' voice increased to a rich contralto.

"He said he wanted to be left alone. He was very irritable and moody. I attempted, then and there, to pacify the aforesaid defendant, and restore peace and harmony in our lives, but . . ."

Miss Fanny Holtzmann, New York, attorney for Miss Claire, prompted her—"You went to live with friends?"

Too Much Intellect.

"I did. I tried to get John to come back, but he said I was a woman with too much intellect—whatever he meant by that."

Gilbert said later that no property settlement, in the usual sense of the term, had been agreed upon.

"She has been more than fair in every way," Gilbert said. "She voluntarily signed away, one year after our marriage, all rights to my property."

The divorce ended the third marriage of Gilbert, and the second of the actress. Gilbert's first wife was Olivia Burwell, a motion picture actress. His second marriage was to Leatrice Joy, also a screen actress. Miss Claire's first husband was James Whittaker, a Chicago and New York newspaperman.

This Game of GOLF

BY O. B. KEELER

WITH the Jones boy on the sidelines the 1931 United States open golf championship at the Inverness club, Toledo, started out as a terrific scramble without a single round better than the par 71 of the course in the first day's play.

Four contenders were tied at that figure—Mortie Dutra, Eddie Williams, Herman Barron and Charlie Guest. The critics closed one eye and glanced down the list; away down to the 74's, just pausing an instant at Macdonald Smith and Billy Burke at 73.

In the 74's they found Gene Sarazen and Walter Hagen. At 75, Tommy Armour, Leo Diegel and George Von Elm.

But it was the pair of 74's they looked at hardest.

"Great spot," they said. "The four in the lead will crack. Armour and the Dieg and Von Elm, or one or two of them, may rush up to the front; each is capable of turning on incredible heat, at times. But keep the old eye on Sarazen and the Haig."

They—I may as well say we—were half right, which is not too bad, for critics. The four leaders slid away, only Mortie Dutra carrying a real chance into the last round. But Sir Walter couldn't close the gap. I saw him miss three putts of six feet or less in the third round. He did a 73 instead of a 70 and was too far back to apply the pressure. After a good start and a great birdie 3 at the tough fifth hole in the last round he caught three 5's running and was out.

Sarazen was out by the end of Round 2, with a 78. And it was George Von Elm, the "business man golfer," whose five birdies on the second nine yielded a card of 69 and the lead at 144 at the halfway post. It was Billy Burke, the steadiest golfer in the field, who was in second position, tied with Eddie Williams.

Von Elm hung on grimly with a 73 and gained a stroke on the wistful-eyed Burke, whose 74 left him two strokes down as they started the last round, with Burke playing one hour ahead.

Now, that hour very likely meant the championship. For, still playing steadily but with no great brilliance, Burke worked his way home with a card of 73, and as Von Elm went to the twelfth tee word ran about the course that George had only to do a 38 on the last nine to win and a 39 to tie.

And that assignment, to George must have seemed a simple one—under ordinary circumstances. The last nine at Inverness is a fairly stiff par 36, with one long hole, always a possible 4 down the wind, and one short hole, of the pitch variety, 146 yards.

The championship, many considered, was in the bag. If George could finish in level 4's, or just par, he would win by three strokes. He could blow two strokes and win.

But Burke's card, 36-37—73, was on the board. It could not get any worse. Nothing could happen to it.

George was over the twelfth green with his pitch, lost a stroke with a 6 to the par 5 of the long hole; got his par 3 at the next; and went 5-5-5 against par 4-4-4 at the next three. His margin was gone, and one more.

The iron certitude of a posted score got him, as it has got many another great, game golfer. He had to hole a 12-foot putt for a birdie 3 to tie, at the last green. And he holed it. That, and the great double playoff, made glory enough.

Yesterday's Stars.

Vic Frasier, White Sox—Scattered Tigers' nine hits to win, 5-1.

Jess Haines, Cardinals—Held Pirates to seven hits and won, 7-1.

Vince Barton, Cubs—Battered Red hurling for two home runs and three singles in doubleheader, driving in five runs.

Ray Benge, Phillies and Willie Sherdel, Braves—Former gave Braves six hits in first game, latter scattered Phillies' eight in second for even break on day.

Travis Jackson, Giants—Clouted home run, triple, double and two singles against Robins in doubleheader.

Berg Has Trouble In McNamara Bout

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—(INS)—Jackie Kid Berg must show a great improvement if he expects to get that return bout with Tony Canzoneri for the lightweight championship in the fall.

In their last engagement in Chicago the Brooklyn Italian stowed the Englishman away in three rounds.

Last night Berg met Jimmy McNamara, Greenwich village, in the ten round final at the Queensboro stadium and received the verdict after a hard battle. McNamara fought the entire distance practically without the service of his right hand. Using his left alone, Jimmy extended Berg to the utmost.

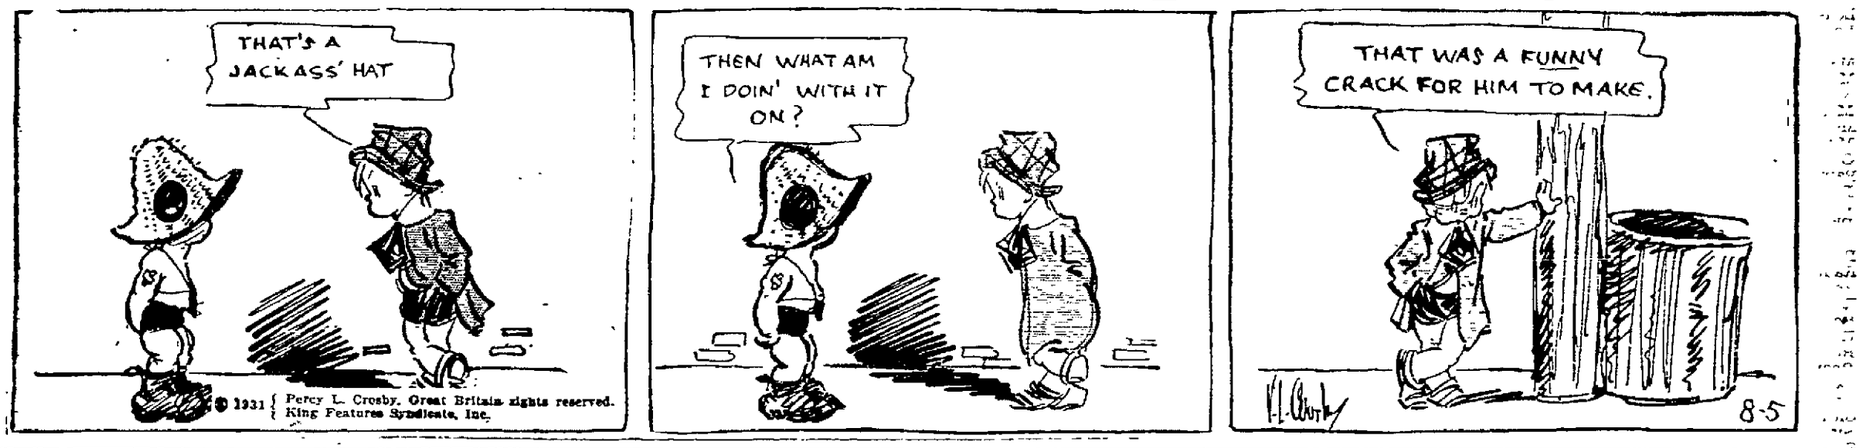

McNamara started strongly and kept the White Chapel whirlwind off balance and at the same time counted with vicious lefts to the mid-section. Jimmy won three of the first four rounds, but Berg came on to win the decision.

The show drew 10,000 fans. They paid $14,500.

WHAT'S IN FASHION?

One More Sports Jacket

Directed by AMOS PARRISH

NEW YORK, Aug. 5—Too late to buy a sports jacket? Don't you believe it! You can count on jackets being worn through the fall . . . and not only for sports, either, but for regular, everyday wear.

A flannel or lightweight crepey wool jacket would be the best choice if you want to wear it in the autumn. You can even get a new flannel or crepey wool skirt to match it when cooler weather comes, if you like. Though these smart separate jackets can be worn with dresses or with skirts that don't match, too.

In fact, one of the smartest ways to wear them this summer is with skirts or dresses that don't match A blue or brown jacket with a white skirt or dress. A white one with a dark costume, as well as with white ones.

Combines With Skirt.

And in the fall this same blue jacket could be combined with a blue tweed or flannel skirt and the brown with a biege or brown flannel, or a lovely soft brown tweed mixture to make a smart suit.

Flannel and light wools are just as good for now, too Unlined they're not too warm. But of course, silk or cotton would be even cooler and just as fashionable for strictly summer use.

Double-Breasted Type.

That double-breasted, slightly fitted kind of jacket is one that's very fashionable this summer. And still will be in the fall.

With brass buttons it has a nautical look . . . something like a boat officer's jacket . . . and looks specially well at the seashore or on boat trips.

With ordinary buttons it's suitable to wear anywhere. And it's one of the most generally becoming of all the smart sports jackets It's done in flannel, angora or silk crepe and is sketched at the top of the three illustrations

Front Fastening.

Another jacket—equally fashionable and equally sporting looking—is the one that fastens straight up the front with buttons or those metal clips that Schiaparelli introduced.

It has a loose, careless, comfortable look . . . makes a fine golfing or hiking jacket . . . and goes particularly well with tweedy things or those smart knitted dresses you're seeing.

This jacket is sometimes made of washable chamois or suede Sometimes of suede cloth or flannel. It's the second one illustrated.

FASHIONABLE JACKETS.

Loose Sleeves.

If you want dressier looking jacket, one good one is the type with wide, loose, three-quarter length raglan or kimono sleeves. It fastens either diagonally at the left or down the center and is belted But sometimes it fastens just at the neckline, hanging open below the single button.

These jackets you'll find in linen, flannel, silk crepe, pique. They're quite youthful and jaunty looking and are particularly smart in dark or bright colors worn with white dresses.

We've had all these three types skitched. Of course there are lots of other good jackets you can successfully wear during this vacation month. But these three are three of the best ones to wear for fall, too.

MINERVA'S MAIL

Take Your Troubles To Minerva

Jumble of Emotions.

Do you seek advice indiscriminately among your friends?

This is a dangerous practice.

The riskiest part of it is that in telling our problems, they are likely not to sound as serious as we believe them to be. We want them to sound convincing, and we allow our imagination to fill in the dramatic details that fact does not supply.

We eventually believe all the furbelows that we add and develop an intense case of self pity.

We find a certain relief and pleasure in telling our troubles, and instead of trying to solve our problems, we spend our time searching for someone who will listen to them.

A far better way to secure relief and help ourselves too, is to form the habit of writing down our problems in concrete form, for our own information only. It is surprising how unimportant most problems sound when written down. Then write down in a clear fashion suggested remedies and course of action.

At first you may find that your thoughts aren't thoughts at all, but merely a jumble of fears and intangible hopes. Summarizing your real problems in written form is a great aid in clarifying them in your mind

A. Why don't you plan to go to night school this fall and take up one or several subjects that will both interest and help you? It might be that some form of art would prove engrossing to you. Or you might prefer to study French or Spanish and perhaps take a course in household management. Choose whatever would interest you, and I believe you will find that studying to improve your mind will be a great aid in giving you something to live for and helping you in your sensible desire not to lean so heavily upon this one friend.

You might prefer to take a secretarial course or otherwise equip yourself to hold down a more intricate and better paying position.

Type of Popularity.

Dear Minerva: I am writing this letter because I want to give my opinion on the subject of kissing and petting.

I have absolutely no sympathy for young boys and girls who pet. Petting is very harmful and no good ever comes from it. But on the subject of kissing I differ.

In this matter I agree with "Just A Boy." I have had experience with several boys and girls in their teens and I have learned this.

Girls who do not allow boys to ever kiss them do not go over so big. The boys will take girls out and if they refuse to show any affection, they are termed wet blankets and never taken out again.

I have tried to be the modest, unkissable girl and I went out with different types of fellows and I found that I wasn't very successful.—JUST A GIRL.

A. The type of popularity that you purchase with indiscriminate kissing is a pretty cheap sort, my dear, and nothing to be elated or happy over. You are not thinking very deeply. If you could hear the boys talk about the girls who are "hot numbers," I think you would feel differently.

Different Ideas.

Dear Minerva: I have read the discussion on petting in your column with interest. When I read the letter from "Just a Boy," I could not resist the temptation to write and let him know that I agree with him on the subject of petting.

I could never see any harm in kissing any fellow that I liked Girls in this day and age are not shocked at kissing as they were twenty-five or thirty years ago.

I go around with a bunch of nice girls who pet and all of them are spoken highly of On the other hand, I know girls who do not pet but they are classed as dumb.

Of course, everyone has his own opinion on this subject, but I still think that the biggest majority of the younger generation is not against petting

Maybe by this letter you will think I'm a "regular divvel," but I'm not.—JUST A GIRL.

A National Convention.

Lincoln, Neb., Aug 5

To the editor of The Lincoln Star: The old saying, that is "That if a man takes care of his business, his business will take care of him, and if he neglect his business, his busines will neglect him" This is true. We have been neglecting our government, which is our biggest business—letting Herb do it until now we have no business. Why? Because we neglected our most important business and failed to go to the national convention when they nominated the president. But Herb was there. His business is good.

So don't fail to be at the national convention to be held at Monte Ne, Arkansas, August 25 to 29. They are going to nominate a candidate for president. Thirty cars will leave here Monday morning, August 24, at 5 o'clock, a. m., will eat dinner at Kansas City and supper at Monte Ne, Arkansas the same night.

You had better come along. Don't let Herb do it this time unless you want to quit business and go into the bread line.

All railroads are making a rate of one fare for the round trip. Buy your tickets to Rogers, Arkansas.

One-Time Rumanian Beauty Queen Is Killed by Suitor

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 5—(AP)—Dispatches from Braila today said Miss Silvia Cernescu, a beauty queen in 1927, had been shot to death by a customs official because she refused to marry him. He then ended his own life with a bullet.

Miss Cernescu recently was abducted by bandits and held for ransom but her release was effected. She represented Braila and the Danube estuary in beauty contests some years ago.

Scanning New Books

By W. F. BROOKS

NEW YORK—The Du Maurier line has produced another author, Daphne Du Maurier, granddaughter of George, who wrote "Trilby" and "Peter Ibbetson," and daughter of Sir Gerald, English actor-manager and, at times, a playwright.

"The Loving Spirit" traces the growth of a family line begining with Janet Coombe, whose restless yearning for freedom and beauty is the heritage of her son, Joseph; his son ,Christopher, and Christopher's daughter, Jennifer.

In an English seaport town Janet, living outwardly a calm life as mother of six children, gropes in her dreams for a path to romance. Doomed to be a stay-at-home, she achieves a vicarious realization in Joseph, master of a ship whose figurehead, his mother's image, leads him to far places

Joseph passes the torch of desire along to his son, who in turn hands it to his daughter, but all, at last, return inevitably to the place where the family roots are deep in the shore. There is their only peace.

Jennifer manages a vrey feminine but effective revenge against a relative who seems to represent the many members of the family who could not understand the "different" ones—the ones who longed to get far out from their base.

Promise For Future.

Miss Du Maurier is 24, and this is her first novel. It is marked by a maturity of which an English girl reared in the literary traditions is capable It gives promise of interesting work later

Presumably under the spell of Emily Bronte, one cannot say that Miss Du Maurier gives way to any influence of her grandfather, but nevertheless there is sensed a stress on intangibles such as delighted him.

The hill people of the south provide the material for two of this week's novels.

John Fort's "God in the Straw Pen," August choice of the Book League of America, deals with Methodist revivalism in Georgia in the early part of the 19th century.

Its characters are the rude, emotionally minded men and women of Ryall Springs, a little upland village. Mr. Fort draws them realistically as they look forward with anticipatory delight to the camp meeting at which they can lose their inhibitions in the mad stampede to the crude straw-pen confessional.

"Thursday April" is also realistic but a more humorous treatment of West Virginia hill folk. Alberta Pierson Hannum's first novel deals with people she has observed at first hand, and she presents them with clarity.

A Royal Pair.

Books on royalty also come in pairs this week. "Kings in the Making," by E Thornton Cook, is the story of the 20 men who have held the title "Prince of Wales," while "Sybil of the North" is the tale of Christina, Queen of Sweden, who succeeded to the crown of Gustavus Adolphus when she was only six, finally to leave Sweden forever that," said he. 'By the way, you are a stranger around here. I don't think I got your name."

Christina's interesting career is depicted by Faith Compton Mackenzie, wife of the British novelist.

"Flip. Flip the Terrier, and I am just visiting here," was Flip's response.

'I'm glad we've met," replied the little Skunk. 'Now that we've met and know and understand each other, there will be no unpleasantness if we happen to meet again. There is nothing like mutual understanding Hello, see who's here!"

In among the bushes where they were came Flip's three frinds, the Dogs from the ranch. "We were looking for you," said the biggest one. "We were afraid you were lost. Hello, I see you have company."

Flip noticed that all three stopped at a respectful distance as soon as they saw Spots. He noticed, too, that they did not seem to regard him in anything like friendly spirit, yet the little Skunk appeared in no way disturbed.

"This is Spots," said Flip.

"We've met before," replied one of the others, looking a bit sheepish, where at his companions grinned.

"So we have. No hard feelings, I hope," said Spots. "It was just a misunderstanding on your part. It won't happen again, I feel sure."

"Not if I see you first," replied the sheepish-looking one, whereat the others grinned again

"I had a misunderstanding with Spots' big cousin, Jimmy Skunk once," said Flip, "and I know how you feel"

"If you will excuse me" said Spots, "I'll be on my way. I begin to feel hungry, and you know I have to hunt for my food"

He moved towards the largest Dog and Flip noticed the latter stepped aside quickly. In a few minutes Spots had disappeared, but they could hear him pulling over sticks and leaves as he hunted for grubs and insects

"That's what it is to be independent" said the biggest Dog. "Even Howler the Wolf would treat him with respect unless he happened to be starving. I don't suppose there is anybody he is afraid of." But in this he was mistaken.

known that tuberculosis affects nearly every structure in the body—the lungs, lymph nodes in the neck, bones and joints, and kidneys, being the most frequent sites

It was also proved that animals have tuberculosis. But each animal seems to be susceptible to a peculiar strain of the diease Thus birds have avian tuberculosis and cattle have bovine tuberculosis.

Since cows have tuberculosis, the question arose whether an infected cow would give off tubercle bacilli in the milk, and whether this would cause disease in the human beings who drank it.

Koch said "no" very emphatically. He declared that bovine tuberculosis never caused human tuberculosis. And since his authority was very great, since he was the original discoverer of the germ, his views were accepted.

Not by everyone, however. When technical methods allowed people to differentiate the bovine from the human strains better, it was proved first that bovine tuberculosis in milk could set up the disease in children—in the bones and joints, the intestines and the lymph nodes of the neck. Finally, in 1911, two French bacteriologists presented a series of cases of consumption—tuberculosis of the lungs caused by the bovine strain of the bacillus.

So today we know that cows can transmit tuberculosis to man in milk. What preventive measures are carried out will be explained tomorrow.

bellion is not against the clergy, but against the established order of the universe, and that is as foolish as it is futile.

Moreover, however irksome and joyless duty may appear it can become as welcome and buoyant as a May morning. Christ transfigured it by making His Father's Will His soul's meat and drink You have to decide for yourself, and experience will convince you that once you surrender to whom or to what you may choose to obey, you become the servant and never the master This is all the freedom you have. Permit me to add that it is quite enough for your wise use of it.

QUESTION.

Oklahoma City, Okla.

What teachings of Jesus do you regard as most generally neglected in the pulpit ministry of today?

ANSWER.

Those which emphasize the Master's doctrine of personal regeneration. "Ye must be born again," is a great saying of His too often left out of the pulpit message, and consequently frequently foreign to the thought of men. The age is one of human devices and desires What we are and what we can achieve are constantly before us What God has done for us as individuals and a race is a neglected issue

It is far easier to relate the fascinating story of social progress, its demands and requirements, than it is to unveil the heart of the Christian gospel in personal regeneration by the grace of power of the Eternal Father. Jesus insisted upon far more than betterment of habits or outward improvement in behavior. He claimed nothing less than the soul's inward transformation by the divine indwelling. Experience has abundantly confirmed His demand for our absolute surrender of all we are and have to the Giver of all life.

Once this requirement is satisfied the rest follows The soul of all improvement is the improvement of the soul. But the rebirth of the hidden man of the heart is not merely an individual and personal matter. Indeed the process affects the entire being and influence of "twice born" men and women, and makes them sources of creative power for social betterment. In such a relation consider the careers of Jeremiah, Isaiah, St. Paul, St. Augustine, St. Francis, John Bunyan and John Wesley. These illuminati are classic instances of the regenerated man armed with the spiritual qualifications which will have to control humanity as a whole if it is to realize its true destiny.
